"This invention was so successful that more than a dozen submarines were captured within a space of two days."

Mitchell refused to give any additional information about the invention.

Fort Niagara to be Asylum.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17—Fort Niagara, N. Y., may be transformed into an enormous hospital for insane soldiers brought back from France if conditions which are now being investigated warrant, according to war department officials today. Officers of the Medical Corps are now looking the ground over and if their report is favorable, the one time famous army post will be placed in the hands of the Medical Department. Officers say that its location for this purpose is ideal, being 16 miles from Niagara Falls and sufficiently isolated for the purpose of an insane hospital.

EFFECT OF W. S. FREIGHT EMBARGO

An Interesting Issue Raised by Judge N. Frank O'Reilly in Suit Brought By New York Concern Against Barney Millens.

The first effect of a freight embargo laid by reason of the war with the Huns and the first local case of its kind since the Civil War will probably come up for trial at the May term of the Supreme Court at the court house when the suit brought by Samuel Joseph and Simon Millers, co-partners doing business under the name of Joseph & Miller of New York city to recover $234 from Barney Millens, the well known junk dealer of this city, for non-delivery of goods, will be taken up. Judge N. Frank O'Reilly represents Mr. Millens and Lazarus Joseph, the plaintiffs.

On or about April 30, of last year the plaintiffs entered into a contract with Mr. Millens to purchase 20 bales of blue clippings or rags and 10 bales of No. 1 white clippings or rags. Each bale was to weight 600 pounds. The price agreed upon was $1.82 per 100 pounds for the blue clippings and $350 per 100 pounds for the white clippings, of which sum 75 cents was to be paid in cash by the plaintiffs on receipt of a bill of lading from the railroad.

The bales were delivered by Mr. Millens at the West Shore freight depot in this city in May. At that time the government had laid an embargo on freight and the West Shore authorities refused to give Mr. Millens a bill of lading as it was not known when the embargo would be lifted.

Mr. Millens wrote the plaintiffs that an embargo was in force and later the West Shore advised Mr. Millens he must remove the bales from the freight house. Mr. Millens did so taking the bales back to his store house.

A little later Millen's ware house downtown was burned to the ground and the bales in question were among the property wiped out by the fire.

Joseph & Miller brought the action to recover for non-delivery.

Judge O'Reilly, attorney for Millens, in his answer, sets up the fact that the defendant delivered the goods to the railroad company but they refused to accept them. The goods were delivered for shipment to Holyoke, Mas., as agreed in the contract. The railroad refused to give a bill of lading as required by the contract by reason that an embargo on shipments of all goods to Holyoke, Mass., had been laid under authority of the government of the United States, and by reason of this embargo Mr. Millens was then and continuously afterward prevented and hindered by the railroad from delivering a bill of lading on the goods to the plaintiffs and that at the request of the plaintiffs the goods were afterward stored in the warehouse of Mr. Millens where they were without any carelessness on the part of Mr. Millens accidently destroyed by fire and that instead of the defendant being indebted to the plaintiffs for the value of the goods the plaintiffs were indebted to Mr. Millens for their value and he asks judgment against plaintiffs for the sum mentioned and that the complaint made by plaintiffs be dismissed.

The case has been recently argued in supreme court in New York county for a change of place of trial from New York city to Ulster county, and Judge Erlander had just decided that Mr. Millens is entitled to such change in place of trial.

The case presents a number of legal questions and will prove of great interest to the legal fraternity.

WILL TAKE TIME TO COUNT VOTE

Indications today pointed to the fact that there would be a very heavy vote cast before the polls closed this evening at 8 o'clock. Tuesday evening it was nearly 9 o'clock before those who wanted to vote in some of the wards could do so, and undoubtedly there will be a big rush this evening. All those in the polling places before 8 o'clock will be allowed to vote. It will easily be after midnight before the final vote is tabulated, and it may be morning before it is definitely known whether the city went wet or dry. Both sides claim victory although it is conceded the results will be close.

TAKE FIGHTING AS A JOKE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With The American Army in France, April 16—(7 p. m.)—A private in a Massachusetts regiment, who took part in the two day battle in Apremont Forest, northwest of Toul, fought the Germans for five hours with part of his right ankle blown away by a shrapnel bullet and then walked ten miles to a hospital to be treated. He refused medical aid until the end of the battle. He was wounded at four in the morning and was not treated until after nine.

"I was on duty in an outpost, so near to the Germans lines that I could hear the Germans laughing in their trenches and the watch dogs barking. A fellow in our company a hundred yards away had been wounded by a grenade. I guess he must have coughed or something for the Boches got him. I reported the affair to a corporal and he and two privates and myself stole out in the darkness. The mud was deep and there was considerable danger, but we got him in all right. A grenade exploded near me and I felt an awful pain in the leg. I kept on shooting and I guess I must have got a few. I am dead anxious to leave the hospital and get back to the trenches for I want to give them hell."

Another private in the next cot at the evacuation hospital said that before the fight every one was wondering how it would seem.

"The thing that impressed me," he went on, "was that everybody seemed to take it as a joke. The Boches dropped fifteen shells right near us. I got clipped on the shoulder. One of our gang had his leg shot off. We found him lying in the trench. He was a game kid. He said, 'Good luck, fellows; so long,' and then died.

"A Pole near me yodeled like a crazy man every time he threw a grenade at the Boches. He knocked out his share all right. The first German I got was creeping along the ground. I noticed a light blond head and let go with my rifle. I saw him roll over and not move.

"I got one fellow as he was going to throw a grenade into our dugout. Our fellows who were wounded were game birds. There was no groaning nor crying. Get into it again is our best bet."

COULD NOT SLEEP; TAKES HIS LIFE

Patrick McSpirit Died On His Farm This Morning From Strychnine—Although Working Every Day He Had Not Been Feeling Well For the Past Month.

Patrick McSpirit, 54 years old, who lived on the Sawkill Road, near the Cherry Hill Farm, about two miles from Kingston, died at 9:30 o'clock this morning from a self-administered dose of strychnine.

Despondency, caused by not sleeping well for the past month or so, was the cause of the act.

Mr. McSpirit, while working on his farm this morning with his sons, John and George, was seized with convulsions. His sons carried him to the barn, a few feet away, and Dr. H. A. Follette of this city was called.

Dr. Follette arrived quickly and recognized the symptoms as that of poison. The doctor administered antidotes and did everything possible to counteract the poison.

When the doctor first arrived Mr. McSpirit said that he had taken quinine, but later admitted that he had taken strychnine and told the doctor where to find it.

Dr. Follette found the balance of the strychnine in a table tumbler, where McSpirit said that it was, under the seat of a cutter in the barn.

McSpirit said that he could not help it, he had to do it

Although he had been complaining for the past five months or so of not feeling well and having trouble sleeping, he had been working every day.

He had complained of being tired and at times he seemed discouraged because he did not sleep well, but his family had no inkling that he thought of taking his life.

The Rev. George S. Murdock, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church, was called and administered the last rites of the Catholic Church.

Mr. McSpirit was a member of St. Joseph's Church and also a member of the Holy Name Society of the church.

Besides his wife, Margaret, he is survived by one daughter, Mary, and four sons, John, George, Frank and Arthur, all at home.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was called. The tumbler containing the balance of the strychnine was turned over to him.

PIEKIN PROUD OF HIS COUNTRY

Harry A. Pieken, writing from Camp Dix to a friend in this city says:

"Everything down here tells a new comer in unmistakable terms that the Kaiser is in ignorance of the spirit and strength of America's National Army. The completeness and efficiency which is very much in evidence here goes away over a 'back-homer's' idea of how a camp is. Nothing has been overlooked by the War Department, and system and cleanliness are two things that come before everything else. It does an American good to gaze upon scenes that show just how seriously Uncle Sam means it when he says, 'We will fight to a finish.' Everyone is intent upon the great task set before him and all work together in a spirit like that which our histories tell of in the days of yore. Since coming down here my chest has expanded quite a little because I am proud of my country. No nation could have done what this nation has in its initial year of war."

Mr. Pieken's address is 4th Co., 1st Battalion, 153rd Depot Brigade, Camp Dix, N. J.

BRIEF REVIEW OF THE BATTLE NEWS

While the British [illegible] brilliant counter assaults, have thrown back the Germans at three points [illegible] from captured ground, Field Marshal Haig has been compelled to withdraw his troops from advanced positions on the Passchendaele Ridge [illegible] east of Ypres.

The Flanders battle has reached its critical stage. By constant pressure and the continued use of fresh troops, the Germans have broken the Britons' grasp upon the Messines Ridge and the British grip upon the Passchendaele Ridge is seriously menaced, if it has not already been crushed.

These two dominating series of heights are the British key positions in Belgium.

In the Wytschaete sector, at the northern end of the Messines Ridge, the British drove forward in a night counter attack, which the British war office in its official report today described as "successful."

There was another British success at Meteren, between one and two miles west of Bailleul. The Germans had gained a foothold in the village yesterday, but in desperate hand to hand fighting they were rolled back, leaving the British in complete possession of the village.

The flare-up of fighting near Boyelles, on the front south of Arras, again left the English the victors. The Germans penetrated a few trenches, but the British pressed home a quick and powerful counter thrust which completely restored the situation.

The Ypres sector of the great Flanders battle line today held the center of the stage in both importance and interest. By direct and flank pressure the Germans have been striving desperately to get control of the high ground in that region and at the same time drive forward from Bailleul, thus compelling a retirement all along the British left flank.

While thrusting against the British height positions on Messines Ridge the Germans renewed their efforts against the British lines north of Bailleul. Blows were struck in the direction of St. Jans and along the Hazebrouck Railway, but no success was attained. The attacking forces came under direct fire of British artillery and were mowed down in heaps.

The fighting on Tuesday night was along a nine-mile front and was marked by its ferocity. The British held to their positions like grim death and fulfilled to the letter Field Marshal Haig's order to hold their lines or die trying. They held.

General Plumer, one of the greatest soldiers the war has produced, has been recalled from the Italian front by the British war office and is now commanding the Second British Army which is holding the line along the Bailleul-Wulverghem-Messines Ridge front.

This was the eighth day of the Flanders battle and the 28th day of Picardy struggle.

There has been only artillery duelling east of Amiens and along the flank of the German salient in that zone, but it has been extremely violent.

BRITISH LOSSES ARE NOT VITAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, April 17.—With the British holding doggedly to the western slopes of the famous Messines Ridge the Germans have begun a drum fire cannonade northward in the sector of the Passchendaele heights, indicating an extension of the battle of Flanders to the northern zone.

Although the British have sustained some reverses during the past 36 hours, nothing vital has been lost and the optimistic declarations by Premier Lloyd-George in the House of Commons have had an electrical effect on both the members and the public at large.

The chief developments in the struggle are these:

1—The Germans have taken Bailleul Wytschaete and Spanbroekmolen, gaining a footing on the Messines Ridge;

2—The battle front has been advanced until it now lies about four and one half miles from Hazebrouck, one of the chief local objectives of the Germans;

There has been a wide divergence of statments as to the exact number of divisions engaged. Estimates of the number taking part in the Flanders battle range all the way from twenty to fifty.

Fort Niagara to be Asylum.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17—Fort Niagara, N. Y., may be transformed into an enormous hospital for insane soldiers brought back from France if conditions which are now being investigated warrant, according to war department officials today. Officers of the Medical Corps are now looking the ground over and if their report is favorable, the one time famous army post will be placed in the hands of the Medical Department. Officers say that its location for this purpose is ideal, being 16 miles from Niagara Falls and sufficiently isolated for the purpose of an insane hospital.

EFFECT OF W. S. FREIGHT EMBARGO

An Interesting Issue Raised by Judge N. Frank O'Reilly in Suit Brought By New York Concern Against Barney Millens.

The first effect of a freight embargo laid by reason of the war with the Huns and the first local case of its kind since the Civil War will probably come up for trial at the May term of the Supreme Court at the court house when the suit brought by Samuel Joseph and Simon Millers, co-partners doing business under the name of Joseph & Miller of New York city to recover $234 from Barney Millens, the well known junk dealer of this city, for non-delivery of goods, will be taken up. Judge N. Frank O'Reilly represents Mr. Millens and Lazarus Joseph, the plaintiffs.

On or about April 30, of last year the plaintiffs entered into a contract with Mr. Millens to purchase 20 bales of blue clippings or rags and 10 bales of No. 1 white clippings or rags. Each bale was to weight 600 pounds. The price agreed upon was $1.82 per 100 pounds for the blue clippings and $350 per 100 pounds for the white clippings, of which sum 75 cents was to be paid in cash by the plaintiffs on receipt of a bill of lading from the railroad.

The bales were delivered by Mr. Millens at the West Shore freight depot in this city in May. At that time the government had laid an embargo on freight and the West Shore authorities refused to give Mr. Millens a bill of lading as it was not known when the embargo would be lifted.

Mr. Millens wrote the plaintiffs that an embargo was in force and later the West Shore advised Mr. Millens he must remove the bales from the freight house. Mr. Millens did so taking the bales back to his store house.

A little later Millen's ware house downtown was burned to the ground and the bales in question were among the property wiped out by the fire.

Joseph & Miller brought the action to recover for non-delivery.

Judge O'Reilly, attorney for Millens, in his answer, sets up the fact that the defendant delivered the goods to the railroad company but they refused to accept them. The goods were delivered for shipment to Holyoke, Mass., as agreed in the contract. The railroad refused to give a bill of lading as required by the contract by reason that an embargo on shipments of all goods to Holyoke, Mass., had been laid under authority of the government of the United States, and by reason of this embargo Mr. Millens was then and continuously afterward prevented and hindered by the railroad from delivering a bill of lading on the goods to the plaintiffs and that at the request of the plaintiffs the goods were afterward stored in the warehouse of Mr. Millens where they were without any carelessness on the part of Mr. Millens accidently destroyed by fire and that instead of the defendant being indebted to the plaintiffs for the value of the goods the plaintiffs were indebted to Mr. Millens for their value and he asks judgment against plaintiffs for the sum mentioned and that the complaint made by plaintiffs be dismissed.

The case has been recently argued in supreme court in New York county for a change of place of trial from New York city to Ulster county, and Judge Erlander had just decided that Mr. Millens is entitled to such change in place of trial.

The case presents a number of legal questions and will prove of great interest to the legal fraternity.

TAKE FIGHTING AS A JOKE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With The American Army in France, April 16—(7 p. m.) —A private in a Massachusetts regiment, who took part in the two day battle in Apremont Forest, northwest of Toul, fought the Germans for five hours with part of his right ankle blown away by a shrapnel bullet and then walked ten miles to a hospital to be treated. He refused medical aid until the end of the battle. He was wounded at four in the morning and was not treated until after nine.

"I was on duty in an outpost, so near to the Germans lines that I could hear the Germans laughing in their trenches and the watch dogs barking. A fellow in our company a hundred yards away had been wounded by a grenade. I guess he must have coughed or something for the Boches got him. I reported the affair to a corporal and he and two privates and myself stole out in the darkness. The mud was deep and there was considerable danger, but we got him in all right. A grenade exploded near me and I felt an awful pain in the leg. I kept on shooting and I guess I must have got a few. I am dead anxious to leave the hospital and get back to the trenches for I want to give them hell."

Another private in the next cot at the evacuation hospital said that before the fight every one was wondering how it would seem.

"The thing that impressed me," he went on, "was that everybody seemed to take it as a joke. The Boches dropped fifteen shells right near us. I got clipped on the shoulder. One of our gang had his leg shot off. We found him lying in the trench. He was a game kid. He said, 'Good luck, fellows; so long,' and then died.

"A Pole near me yodeled like a crazy man every time he threw a grenade at the Boches. He knocked out his share all right. The first German I got was creeping along the ground. I noticed a light blond head and let go with my rifle. I saw him roll over and not move.

"I got one fellow as he was going to throw a grenade into our dugout. Our fellows who were wounded were game birds. There was no groaning nor crying. Get into it again is our best bet."

WILL TAKE TIME TO COUNT VOTE

Indications today pointed to the fact that there would be a very heavy vote cast before the polls closed this evening at 8 o'clock. Tuesday evening it was nearly 9 o'clock before those who wanted to vote in some of the wards could do so, and undoubtedly there will be a big rush this evening. All those in the polling places before 8 o'clock will be allowed to vote. It will easily be after midnight before the final vote is tabulated, and it may be morning before it is definitely known whether the city went wet or dry. Both sides claim victory although it is conceded the results will be close.

COULD NOT SLEEP, TAKES HIS LIFE

Patrick McSpirit Died On His Farm This Morning From Strychnine—Although Working Every Day He Had Not Been Feeling Well For the Past Month.

Patrick McSpirit, 54 years old, who lived on the Sawkill Road, near the Cherry Hill Farm, about two miles from Kingston, died at 9:30 o'clock this morning from a self-administered dose of strychnine.

Despondency, caused by not sleeping well for the past month or so, was the cause of the act.

Mr. McSpirit, while working on his farm this morning with his sons, John and George, was seized with convulsions. His sons carried him to the barn, a few feet away, and Dr. H. A. Follette of this city was called.

Dr. Follette arrived quickly and recognized the symptoms as that of poison. The doctor administered antidotes and did everything possible to counteract the poison.

When the doctor first arrived Mr. McSpirit said that he had taken quinine, but later admitted that he had taken strychnine and told the doctor where to find it.

Dr. Follette found the balance of the strychnine in a table tumbler, where McSpirit said that it was, under the seat of a cutter in the barn.

McSpirit said that he could not help it, he had to do it.

Although he had been complaining for the past five months or so of not feeling well and having trouble sleeping, he had been working every day.

He had complained of being tired and at times he seemed discouraged because he did not sleep well, but his family had no inkling that he thought of taking his life.

The Rev. George S. Murdock, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church, was called and administered the last rites of the Catholic Church.

Mr. McSpirit was a member of St. Joseph's Church and also a member of the Holy Name Society of the church.

Besides his wife, Margaret, he is survived by one daughter, Mary, and four sons, John, George, Frank and Arthur, all at home.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was called. The tumbler containing the balance of the strychnine was turned over to him.

PIEKIN PROUD OF HIS COUNTRY

Harry A. Pieken, writing from Camp Dix to a friend in this city says:

"Everything down here tells a newcomer in unmistakable terms that the Kaiser is in ignorance of the spirit and strength of America's National Army. The completeness and efficiency which is very much in evidence here goes away over a 'back-homer's' idea of how a camp is. Nothing has been overlooked by the War Department, and system and cleanliness are two things that come before everything else. It does an American good to gaze upon scenes that show just how seriously Uncle Sam means it when he says, 'We will fight to a finish.' Everyone is intent upon the great task set before him and all work together in a spirit like that which our histories tell of in the days of yore. Since coming down here my chest has expanded quite a little because I am proud of my country. No nation could have done what this nation has in its initial year of war."

Mr. Pieken's address is 4th Co., 1st Battalion, 153rd Depot Brigade, Camp Dix, N. J.

The 1917 barley crop shows a big increase over that of previous years. Barley is one of the oldest cereals known and in America dates from the coming of the Colonists. The war has brought the housewives of America a new appreciation of it. This grain may be substituted for wheat, as a breakfast cereal, or as a flour or meal, may be used to make delicious breads.

Meat Souffle.

One cup chopped meat, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 pint milk, 2 eggs, salt, pepper, grated cheese to taste.

Make the butter, flour and milk into a white sauce. Let this cool. Brown the meat in a sancepan with a little fat until it is cooked, then add salt and pepper. Take it from the fire and add the white sauce and the egg well beaten. Season with grated cheese, fill with the mixture and steam or bake as a custard for one hour. Serve with any meat or tomato sauce.

Peach Snowballs.

Soak 1 tablespoon of gelatin in ¼ cup of cold water and dissolve it in ½ cup of boiling water. Add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice. Strain, cool slightly and add 1 cup of canned peaches, apricots or pineapple pressed through a sieve. When the mixture begins to stiffen, beat until light, then add the whites of 2 eggs beaten until stiff and mold in egg cups.

Recipes for any of the dishes in these menus which cannot be found in cook books may be had by writing to the Department of Home Economics, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Rock-White Show a Success.

Frances White and William Rock played to capacity houses at the Kingston opera house on Tuesday afternoon and evening, presenting the best vaudeville performance seen here in many years. They were accompanied by the New York Clef Club orchestra, composed of colored players and singers, whose performance between the first and second vaudeville parts of the show was superior to any of the jazz band performances given here in a long time. The colored singers' rendition of old time negro melodies was applauded repeatedly.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 17.—The news from France acted as a disturbing influence on the stock market at the opening today, first sales being made at declines of one point or more in the majority of issues, but the market at once steadied itself and rallies were quickly in order. The opening sales of Steel Common were 4,000 shares at 90⅜ to 90¾, against 91⅜ at the close yesterday, but in the next few minutes the stock rallied to 91¼. Similar losses followed by short rallies were noted among other steel industrials. Baldwin Locomotive yielded ⅜ to 76½ and then moving up to 77¼, showing a net gain of ⅜ over yesterday's final price. Distillers Securities yielded ¾ to 46 and then rallied to 46½, and Reading, after an opening loss of ⅞ at 79⅛, rallied to 79⅜. Inspiration was exceptionally strong, making a gain of ⅜ to 47½. As the first quarter of an hour ended, stocks were in generally good demand. Liberty 4's were active selling at 96.32, while the 3½'s were traded in at 98.94.

Vigorous buying was noted in many stocks during the forenoon. International Paper Common was up over 3 points to 36¼. Steel Common after selling at 90⅜, moved up to 91¼, and Inspiration Copper sold up to 47½. Baldwin Locomotive after selling up to 77¼, reacted to 76⅝. Trading in Marine Preferred was small, and after selling at 92½, it rallied to 93¼. The railroad issues were lower, Union Pacific dropping nearly one point to 117⅜, while Chesapeake and Ohio fell to 54¼ and Reading to 79⅛.

The market turned weak in the afternoon under increased pressure by many of the room traders, on disappointing war news. Steel Common dropped nearly one point to 90¾, and losses of about the same extent were suffered in the other steel industrials. Marine Preferred dropped over one point to 92⅜ and Baldwin fell to 75⅝, a decline of nearly 2 points. International Paper dropped 1½ to 35¼.

Substantial gains were made by leading issues in late trading in the market today, particularly International Paper, which sold up to 38, a gain of 5½ points. Steel Common rose to 91¾ and Baldwin to 76⅝. American Car and Foundry moved up over one point to 77⅛.

Thursday.

Lunch or Supper—Creamed cabbage with *ground peanuts, hashed brown potatoes, *dried apple sauce.

Dinner—Meat souffle, steamed potatoes, *sauted parsnips, *peach or pineapple snowballs.

The 1917 barley crop shows a big increase over that of previous years. Barley is one of the oldest cereals known and in America dates from the coming of the Colonists. The war has brought the housewives of America a new appreciation of it. This grain may be substituted for wheat, as a breakfast cereal, or as a flour or meal, may be used to make delicious breads.

Meat Souffle.

One cup chopped meat, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 pint milk, 2 eggs, salt, pepper, grated cheese to taste.

Make the butter, flour and milk into a white sauce. Let this cool. Brown the meat in a saucepan with a little fat until it is cooked, then add salt and pepper. Take it from the fire and add the white sauce and the egg well beaten. Season with grated cheese, fill with the mixture and steam or bake as a custard for one hour. Serve with any meat or tomato sauce.

Peach Snowballs.

Soak 1 tablespoon of gelatin in ¼ cup of cold water and dissolve it in ½ cup of boiling water. Add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice. Strain, cool slightly and add 1 cup of canned peaches, apricots or pineapple pressed through a sieve. When the mixture begins to stiffen, beat until light, then add the whites of 2 eggs beaten until stiff and mold in egg cups.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 17, 1918.

Nations at war use military means for the extermination of military forces of the enemy but never until this war has any nation, except savage tribes, sought to exterminate non-combatants, women and children, and in this war Germany alone has followed that course of conduct. Even savages have treated with respect the messengers of other tribes because they recognized always that there must remain some means of maintaining communication at a future date and the representative of another tribe was treated even by the North American Indians with care and respect. Civilized nations never have treated the official ambassadors of another nation in any other manner. While the severing of diplomatic relations has meant in effect that the Government of one nation did not desire to have further relations with the Government of another nation, the person of the ambassador as far back as Biblical times has been regarded as immune from attack and as a matter of courtesy his personal belongings have been afforded every possible protection. Germany has added a new chapter to her disregard of civilized customs by taking proceedings to obtain possession of personal property belonging to Former Ambassador James W. Gerard which he stored in a warehouse before leaving Berlin, notice of such proceedings having been conveyed to the United States Government by the Spanish Ambassador in Washington as the official representative of the German Embassy there. In view of Germany's methods since the war began and her evident hatred of England and America, it is interesting to learn from Ambassador Gerard that when the German Ambassador hurriedly left London, jewelry and other valuables belonging to his wife were afterward forwarded by the English Government to Berlin by courier. The observance of civilized customs seems always to arouse German ire and adds to the proof of her outlawry.

OUT-MANEUVERING PROFITEERS

Diversion of the entire worsted mill production of New Jersey to Government purposes was to be expected after the announcement from Washington that the Government has in contemplation the regulation of prices of wool, woolen clothing and shoes. Regulation of the price of food commodities would result naturally in a demand that the Government should take similar action regarding other necessities. The control and regulation of coal came as the result of demands from many sources for supplies which could be answered in no other way. Four of the six large mills in New Jersey which will be affected by the regulative action of the Government formerly were controlled by enemy aliens through their ownership of a majority of the stock.

German efforts to escape American import duties were responsible for the contruction of these New Jersey mills, all of which were built years ago by selling agents of woolen firms in Germany. In recent hearings before Government officials, it was shown that these mills were supplied with dye-stuffs from Germany at the time the submarine Deutschland arrived at an American port bringing quantities of German materials and that for at least one firm controlling large mills the German Foreign Office at Berlin had recommended that the greatest possible consideration be shown. Through the instrumentality of some of these mills it was possible to place large orders in America for wool which went to Germany eventually. It is certainly pleasing to know that Germany's means intended to combat America economically are to be turned against her.

Increased use of wool by the Government means a less supply for ordinary commercial use, but wool will not be denied the ordinary consumer, according to a statement issued by the secretary of the War Service Committee of the Woolen and Worsted Industry, the Government not sanctioning outright cancellation of all civilian orders for cloth. The decision to clothe all overseas troops in the new heavier weights for the coming winter naturally necessitates the employment of a large percentage of the woolen cloth-making machinery, but it is intended to distribute contracts for Government cloth so that each mill shall operate part time on civilian fabrics. The summer months will be devoted, undoubtedly, to manufacturing cloth which will be made up into suits for the soldiers, which simply means deferring civilian orders for such time as is necessary to supply the soldiers.

More cotton will be required to take the place of wool in clothing, besides its great demand for war purposes, but the sensational drop in the price of cotton which has been going on for several days indicates that Government regulation in the price of clothing will be materially aided by natural trade tendencies. The United States raises about thirteen million bales of cotton annually. The Government is turning nearly a million bales a year into explosives alone. Some idea of the extent to which cotton is consumed on the battlefield may be gained from the fact that a twelve-inch gun disposes of half a bale with every shot fired, and a machine gun in operation will use a bale in three minutes. In a naval battle, like that off Jutland, more than five thousands pounds are consumed a minute by each active warship. More than a million bales are required for one change of apparel for all troops now engaged in the war, and more than twenty thousand bales to provide absorbent cotton used medically and surgically.

In view of these facts, there is very clear indication that profiteering has been attempted in cotton, and with dropping prices there has appeared a rush to sell cotton supplies whose existence was not before suspected. Price regulation of clothing will please everybody except the profiteer and with regulation of wool will insure us next winter's clothing supply.

MARTIAL LAW AGAINST TREASON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17.—The most revolutionary measure yet proposed in congress to stamp out disloyalty in the United States was brought before the senate military affairs committee for investigation today by Senator Chamberlain of Oregon.

Under the drastic provisions the entire country would be declared a part of the military zone and pro-Germanism and Bolshevikism would be dealt with under martial law with death as the penalty.

Prosecution of traitors and spies would be taken from the hands of the department of justice and placed within the jurisdiction of the military and naval forces of the nation.

The military committee summoned to the witness stand today officials of the department of justice to learn their views on the measure and to ascertain whether it will ever be possible to effectually check treason and disloyalty by criminal proceedings.

The Chamberlain bill expresses the impatience of many members of congress over the slow progress of the government in rounding up spies and disloyalists. They have reached the conclusion that this work is essentially a part of the duties of the military and that it can be effectively carried out only by the application of martial law.

Many bills have been passed by congress since the outbreak of the war to better arm the department of justice in suppressing disloyalty and espionage but even where arrests have been made the effect had nullified in many cases by the practice of admitting the culprits to bail and permitting them to continue their seditious utterances.

Senator Chamberlain announced today that he would endeavor to push the bill to an early vote. Indications were that it would meet with considerable opposition and that if passed it would be considerably amended.

Beau Brummel's Superstition.

A coin with a hole in it is said to be lucky. Beau Brummel traced the beginning of his ruin to accidentally giving his lucky coin (a sixpence with a hole in it) to a cabman. To the close of his life he maintained that "Rothschild or some of his rascally set got hold of it."

SERGEANT PAIGE A PLAIN SPEAKER

Calls a Spade a Spade and Gives Plain Talk on the War in Europe That People Should Hear.

With the appalling war news that the Germans are within 30 miles of the English Channel, that the latter is in grave danger, it is about time that every man and woman in this country, whether young or old, whether they want to or not, knows what this war may mean to us here in our so-far protected United States! It is no longer wise or safe to call that literary "spade," "an implement of agricultural labor," it must be called "A Spade." That is what Sergeant Paige will do at the high school tonight, and he will do it in no uncertain terms. He has lived through months of the hell of this war, and he will give us some idea of what we may have to face if the British Channel is reached by the Germans. Many of us have been shutting our eyes and crying out, "I won't see this horrible monster, I won't read about him!" such a way of looking at the matter will avail us little once we feel the monster's hot breath upon us, and it will be far better for all of us to find out all we can about the horrible thing, that we may be preparing in every way possible to combat it. Sergeant Paige, a mere lad with the experience behind him of a life time, will come to us tonight, and in the simplest, most forceful language will tell us what it all means and may perhaps give us some aid in the way of ideas as to that tremendously needed preparedness. This lecture will be given, absolutely free, to all Kingstonians by the Women's Branch of the Ulster County Home Defense Committee at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.

On Friday evening of this week, the members and friends of the Lowell Club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Augustus Van Buren on Washington avenue. Mrs. Van Buren has arranged for an evening's musical and literary entertainment and each member of the club is privileged to invite one friend to be their guest on Friday evening. This will be the last meeting, social or otherwise, of this club this season.

Monday Club.

The Monday Club met this week at the home of Miss K. B. Forsyth on Pearl street. Miss Forsyth had the paper for the day, and gave a most interesting and thoroughly enjoyable presentation of her subject, in itself full of interest, "The Essay of Gentle Humor; Elizabeth Woodbridge, Samuel McChord Crothers, Agnes Repplier." Sketches of the lives of the three essayists and comparisons of their writings, wherein, for instance, Elizabeth Woodbridge was shown to be the exponent of outdoor life, and Agnes R. Repplier of indoor, were supplemented by readings from the works of all three authors. As has been the custom with the club for several weeks now, ten minutes were profitably devoted to a practical discussion of food conservation, etc., much of the discussion following actual experience of the members. The program for next year, subject: "Japan," was accepted as presented by the Program Committee. The meeting next week, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenyon, and will be the last for this season, will include the election of officers, and the selection of individual subjects for papers for next year.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 17.—The news from France acted as a disturbing influence on the stock market at the opening today, first sales being made at declines of one point or more in the majority of issues, but the market at once steadied itself and rallies were quickly in order. The opening sales of Steel Common, were 4,000 shares at 90⅜ to 90¾, against 91¾ at the close yesterday, but in the next few minutes the stock rallied to 91¼ Similar losses followed by short rallies were noted among other steel industrials. Baldwin Locomotive yielded ⅜ to 76½ and then moving up to 77¼, showing a net gain of ⅝ over yesterday's final price. Distillers Securities yielded ¾ to 46 and then rallied to 46½, and Reading, after an opening loss of ⅞ at 79⅛, rallied to 79¾. Inspiration was exceptionally strong, making a gain of ⅝ to 47½. As the first quarter of an hour ended, stocks were in generally good demand. Liberty 4's were active selling at 96.32, while the 3½'s were traded in at 98.94.

Vigorous buying was noted in many stocks during the forenoon International Paper Common was up over 3 points to 36¼. Steel Common after selling at 90⅜, moved up to 91¼, and Inspiration Copper sold up to 47½. Baldwin Locomotive after selling up to 77¼, reacted to 76⅝. Trading in Marine Preferred was small, and after selling at 92½, it rallied to 93¼ The railroad issues were lower Union Pacific dropping nearly one point to 117⅜, while Chesapeake and Ohio fell to 54⅛ and Reading to 79⅛.

The market turned weak in the afternoon under increased pressure by many of the room traders, on disappointing war news. Steel Common dropped nearly one point to 90¾, and losses of about the same extent were suffered in the other steel industrials Marine Preferred dropped over one point to 92⅜ and Baldwin fell to 75⅝ a decline of nearly 2 points International Paper dropped 1½ to 35¼.

Substantial gains were made by leading issues in late trading in the market today particularly International Paper, which sold up to 38, a gain of 5½ points. Steel Common rose to 91¾ and Baldwin to 76⅝. American Car and Foundry moved up over one point to 77⅛.

Druggists Here Have Something New for Colds

Applied Externally, the Body Heat Releases Ingredients in Vapor Form

COLDS GO OVER NIGHT CROUP IN 15 MINUTES

The Manufacturers Have Authorized the Local Druggists to Sell Any of the Three Sizes, 25c, 50c, or $1.00, on 30 Days' Trial.

Since its introduction here a short time ago, the new treatment for cold troubles, known as Vick's VapoRub, has aroused a great deal of interest among local people, especially among mothers with small children.

Local druggists report that numbers have taken advantage of their 30 days' trial offer to see if a 25c jar of VapoRub really will relieve these troubles externally, without having to "dose" with nauseous internal medicines.

For croup, coughs, chest colds, sore throat or bronchitis, apply VapoRub well over the throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

In addition, VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest. For head colds, catarrh, hay fever, or asthmatic troubles, VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled.

You have to try this treatment to realize its remarkable effect in all cases of cold troubles.

WHEAT WINTERED BADLY IN STATE

Crop Refort Shows Effect of Severe Weather Conditions—Rye Outlook Also Poor—Livestock Good.

While the United States as a whole shows the condition of winter wheat improved somewhat since last December, and now only 5 per cent below the ten year average, the condition of the crop in New York state is poorer than it was last fall. It is poorer than it was at this time a year ago and much poorer than at this season in any other year since 1904. These facts are brought out in the April report of the bureau of crop estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. The report further states that on December of last year the condition of winter wheat in this state was 10 per cent below the ten year average; now it is 11 per cent below.

Much of the crop was planted later than usual and weather conditions last fall did not permit the plants to make normal growth before cold weather set in. The early melting of the snow in the wheat counties south of Lake Ontario has resulted in considerable further damage this spring and many fields look bare and brown. The late plantings have suffered most and considerable acreage will probably be replanted with spring grain.

Rye Outlook is Poor.

Last fall rye suffered from very unfavorable weather and on December 1 the condition both in this state and in the country as a whole was reported to be lower than at that season in any previous year since 1900. The winter, however, has not been as severe on rye as wheat, and the crop is not now as far below the average as it was last December. The prospects, however are not bright, the condition of the crop in the state being as low as it was at this time last year and in 1915, and substantially lower than in any other year since 1904. In the United States as a whole the prospects are poorer than in any year since 1904.

Livestock Losses Small.

During the year ending March 31, 1918, the percentage of horses, cattle, sheep and swine on the farms of this state which were lost from disease, were in every case well below the average. The general showing is perhaps no better than in 1916, but with the exception of that year, the percentage of loss is about the lowest since 1905, when the government first commenced to collect this data. The condition of livestock as a whole is a little better than usual, especially with sheep and swine.

HOW TO GATHER GREENS.

The Best Flavor for Winter Use is in the Crown.

If you don't like dandelion greens, perhaps it is because you have not gathered them or cooked them in the best possible ways, suggests the state college of agriculture at Ithaca in calling attention to the fact that spring greens are well worth reckoning with as a partial setback to Mr. H. C. O'Living.

Near the surface of the ground, say the dandelion enthusiasts, the root is topped by a crowd from which the leaves radiate, and the flavor of this crown they think is especially good; some declare it resembles asparagus. Even though the leaves are too old and tough for use, usually this crown is palatable. If the leaves are pulled, the crown is left behind. It stand to reason therefore, that the way to gather greens is not to pull them but to cut them carefully.

Cut Under the Crown.

If the knife is slid well into the ground so that the root is cut off an inch, or a little less, below the plant, the whole plant comes up and the greens are easier to prepare.

If the dandelions are taken out of the lawn, the crowns must necessarily be removed to make the eradication complete.

The imperfect outside leaves should be discarded at the time of gathering, for they are usually tougher and dirtier than the others.

Agrigraphs.

Every smutted grain and every diseased potato is a potent ally of the enemy. Treat all seed to prevent disease and assure production of sound crops.

When it comes to results, there is not so much difference as one would suppose between the soldier spraying liquid fire on Germans and the farmer spraying liquid fungicides on germs.

To have vegetables in cans on your pantry shelves is likely to mean that you must first have vegetables in your garden. Uncle Sam may draft all the commercially canned stuff to feed our soldiers.

No dog law is worth the paper it is printed on unless public opinion backs it to the limit. One of the causes of the lack of growth in the sheep industry of New York is the vagrant dog.

According to some milk-production cost surveys that have been made in New York it has almost seemed that some farmers have tried to see how many cows they could support. Be sure that the cows are doing the supporting.

It takes less time labor, and seed to make a test than it does to replant. And almost any corn planted this spring without forehand knowledge of germination will have to be replanted at a time when there will be a greater scarcity of seed and less assurance that it will sprout.

This coal and gas range with two ovens is a wonder for cooking

Although less than four feet long it can do every kind of cooking for any ordinary family by gas in warm weather or by coal or wood when the kitchen needs heating. When in a hurry both ovens can be used at the same time—one for roasting and the other for pastry baking. It certainly does "Make Cooking and Baking Easy"

WAR-TIME HINTS FOR THE LOYAL HOUSEWIFE.

Victory "Oven Lunches."

Some mornings you have other uses for the top of the stove and would like to bake the whole lunch in the oven. Perhaps these menus suggested by the United States Food Administration will help you.

First—Potatoes au gratin with creamed cheese sauce; corn bread; fresh fruit sauce; barley sponge cake.

Second—Meat or fish pie with potato crust; barley biscuit; baked apple.

Third—Hominy baked with cheese; fruit ice; oatmeal macaroons.

Meat Pie With Potato Crust.

Two cups cooked meat; 1 cup stock; 1 tablespoon fat; ¼ tablespoon flour; ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper; 2 cups mashed potatoes.

Put diced meat into a baking dish Add brown sauce made of fat, flour, seasonings and stock. Cover top with mashed potatoes, brush with fat and brown in oven.

(Fish may be used instead of meat of desired.)

Barley Biscuits.

Two cups barley flour; ½ teaspoon salt; 4 teaspoons baking powder; 2 tablespoons fat; 2-3 cup milk.

Sift the dry ingredients together, rub in the fat, and add the liquid until a soft dough is formed. Roll to about ⅜ of an inch thick, cut with a cookie cutter and bake in hot oven.

Europe's Empty Sugar Barrel.

When we were asked to "save the sugar," we nodded our heads and agreed that sugar must be saved. Somebody must save it; it was the job of the cook, the baker, or the mother of the house. It wasn't in our line.

Then came this word: "Less sweet drinks and candy containing sugar should be used in war time. As a nation we have twice as much sugar as we need."

This made it more or less a personal matter to each of us, and it put upon us a responsibility under which we squirmed a bit How can we satisfy our perfectly normal craving for sweets, and still "save the sugar?"

We can satisfy it with candy, but not with all kinds of candy; just those which contain a minimum amount of sugar.

But is it a real sacrifice to confine your use of confectionery to the sugar saving varieties described below?

Among them are the chocolate covered nuts and fruits, the uncoated candies, such as nougatines, the delicious Turkish pastes and candies of that variety, as well as all the chocolate you want.

The second group includes "hard boiled candies" such as lemon drops stick candy, fruit tablets, peanut bars, peanut brittle, glace nuts and the like. In this group may also be placed molasses candies such a taffies and kisses.

Marshmallows and similar candies comprise the third group. They may be eaten plain, toasted, dipped in chocolate, rolled in cocoanut and in many other palatable forms, also pop corn confections.

In the fourth group are included gum drops, jellies, jelly beans and the like, giving a wide variety of candy made from pure and wholesome ingredients and containing a minimum amount of sugar.

This isn't much of a hardship, is it? But if we keep within the limits of these candies, we have sent sugar to be put into the empty sugar barrel of Europe.

Valuable New Cement.

A Vienna metal cement or solder, supplied commercially in small cylinders, is described as a copper amalgam, amount of mercurous nitrate and water, a mixture of seven parts of mercury with three parts of powdery copper precipitated from sulphate solution by zinc. When applied, the amalgam and the metal parts to be united are heated to 180 or 190 degrees F. Aside from its use as a cement, the amalgam is stated to be an easily worked composition for various uses, as it can be hammered, rolled, shaped under a die, or softened in boiling water sufficiently for making casts, and it takes a good polish.

The term market gardener was originally "marsh gardener," according to John Evelyn's English translation, 1693 of De La Quintinyne's "Compleat Gard'ner," which was dedicated by the publishers, Matthew Gillyflower and James Partridge, to Lord Capell of Tewksbury.

AMERICAN FLYERS CAPTURE GERMANS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With the American Army in France, April 16.—(6 p. m.)—It took two American aviators just six minutes to capture two German airmen on Sunday and tomorrow the Americans will be decorated for their exploit.

The Americans who thus distinguished themselves are First Lieut. Allan S. Winslow of 2628 Hampton Court, Chicago, and Lieut. Douglas Campbell, a Harvard graduate, whose father is director of the Lick Observatory at Mount Hamilton, Calif.

The Germans were captured after two dramatic duels and today they told the correspondent of the International News Service how they did it.

Winslow, who is 22 years old and a Yale man is as handsome as a fiction hero. While at school he edited the college paper and distinguished himself as an oarsman. He is a blonde and stands six feet two inches.

"Campbell and I were playing cards when the 'alert' signal sounded," he said.

"Two Boches were headed our way and we went up in pursuit. They were captives six minutes after they had crossed our lines. The most satisfactory feature was that we caught them at the aerodrome. It was the first time it had happened. My man opened fire at me from below while we were jockeying for position. As he looped I dropped, getting a better range and drove him to the ground. It was all over in a jiffy. I got out of my machine and asked the chap if he wanted a cigarette. He apparently did for he took it. I thought Doug might need help so I started up, but he brought down his opponent with the German machine in flames a minute later. The actual fighting lasted about four and one-half minutes.

"Then we left the field with out prisoners. My man was of Polish birth and was 24 years old. He said he had been a pilot for two years. In perfect French he exclaimed:

"'The war is over for me. It all happened so quickly I was a bit confused. I had no time to think.'

"The French people were enthusiastic over the affair. A French woman who kept a little store insisted on treating the Americans. She did it, too, but mistook the German prisoner in the crowd and handed him a bottle of champagne which she had intended for one of the victims. The German lost no time in downing it. Doug and I thought it a good joke and laughed heartily."

Campbell's story follows:

"The German machines were up about 2,000 yards when we closed in. I began to pump bullets from my machine gun as soon as we got in range. We fluttered around some and finally I winged one. His machine was crippled and it fell in flames. The German cleverly volplaned, however, averting a worse injury than what he received. He was burned some, but managed to unhook the strap that held him in his seat.

"Both enemy machines were of the Albatross type. My prisoner was 20 years old and was burned so much that he had to go to the hospital. His machine man was pretty much burned, too. It was thrilling afterwards to think of the danger. It took us about a day to realize that we had gone through the affair without a scratch."

LANESVILLE MAN'S LETTER FROM FRANCE

The following letter from Private Julian B. Ostrander, 11th Engineer (Railway) A. E. F., France, has been received by his mother, Mrs. Daniel Ostrander of Lanesville:

Somewhere in France,
March 16.

Dearest Mother and Father—

Sunday evening and I will again write you a few lines, to say that I am still well and feeling fine.

Today has been a grand day over here. Real summer weather.

We have had two ball games, one this morning and one this afternoon. We also have boxing gloves, so we have had some sport. To night we are to have church in one of the barracks. Some Y. M. C. A. man is going to be with us. It has been a long time since I attended church so I think I will go.

I have been thinking of you parents dear and wondering where you have spent this lovely day. But I suppose at home. We are glad to see such lovely weather and hope it continues. The fields are nice and green here and the trees have quite good sized leaves on them. The time seems to go quickly, it does not seem that we have been here nine months already; wish at times that I could be at home for a few hours and then back here again. Have never ben sorry that I came and am willing to do my little bit; am anxious to see this thing finished as I suppose most people are.

I have never felt better in my life than I do now. Get plenty to eat, a good place to sleep and enough shoes and clothing. What more can I ask for? Gee my mouth watered the other day tho' when I happened to see an old lady with a mess of dandelion greens. You know how I always liked them.

Now mother dear take good care of yourself and father, and please do not worry about me. It's church time now so will ring off and finish later

Well, mother, I attended church as I said I would and will now finish my letter. We heard a fine sermon, the text was "Wine, Women and Curse," could have listened to him all night. They sang some old songs. First, "When the Lost Sheep Return the Fold." Second, "Nearer My God to Thee," and last but by no means least, "America."

Well mother, its time for lights out so I must close. When you write to the girls give them my love and tell them to write often.

When one is so far away there is nothing like news from home. Remember me to all the boys, and with all my love to you and father, I remain as ever your only son.

JULIAN B. OSTRANDER.

SEED CORN WANTED IN WESTERN NEW YORK

A short time ago the Ulster County Farm Bureau published for the corn growers of Ulster county a plan for selling the corn that Ulster county is able to spare to the western New York state farmers.

It has been found advisable to increase the price to the grower from $3.75 a bushel to $4.25 (shelled), the cost of sacks included. The method of handling this corn is as follows:

The County Better Seed Company have appointed Everett & Treadwell of Kingston sales agents to handle the corn. They will pay $4.25 per bushel for all corn delivered to them that has a germination test of 80 per cent or over. The Farm Bureau Association is undertaking to test samples of corn from any grower that desires to sell seed corn through this agency.

In order to secure a representative sample to be tested, about fifty ears should be selected from different parts of the crib; four or five kernels should be taken from each of these ears and this sample sent to the Farm Bureau office, Kingston, N. Y.

Save Every Ear That Is Fit for Seed.

Growers that have corn suitable for seed, should save every kernel of it. It seems almost criminal to feed corn that is good for seed purposes when such a serious seed corn shortage new exists all through the northern states. Never in the history of agriculture has the seed corn situation been known to be as serious as it is at the present time. This fact is becoming more apparent every day as crib after crib of supposedly good corn is being tested and found unfit for seed.

Germination Tests Made at the Farm Bureau Office.

Upwards of seventy samples of corn have been tested at the Farm Bureau office and many more are being tested at the present time. Only twenty-two out of these seventy samples have tested above 80 per cent. But poor as the corn is in Ulster county, it is considered very good when compared to the corn grown in the western counties of this state. Practically the only source of seed corn for husking purposes in New York state is located in the Hudson river section.

Ulster County Farmers Without Seed Should Secure Same at Once.

It is not the intention of the Farm Bureau to remove a single ear of corn from the county that is needed here for seed, but it is the duty of the Farm Bureau to send every ear that is not needed in this county.

A list of growers that have seed corn of good germination will be listed in the April issue of the Farm Bureau paper.

A Farm Bureau officer must always stand ready to answer all inquiries relative to best local sources of tested seed corn.

Bread is the staff of life, but you can make a good crutch of potatoes.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 17, 1918.

Nations at war use military means for the extermination of military forces of the enemy but never until this war has any nation, except savage tribes, sought to exterminate non-combatants, women and children, and in this war Germany alone has followed that course of conduct. Even savages have treated with respect the messengers of other tribes because they recognized always that there must remain some means of maintaining communication at a future date and the representative of another tribe was treated even by the North American Indians with care and respect. Civilized nations never have treated the official ambassadors of another nation in any other manner. While the severing of diplomatic relations has meant in effect that the Government of one nation did not desire to have further relations with the Government of another nation, the person of the ambassador as far back as Biblical times has been regarded as immune from attack and as a matter of courtesy his personal belongings have been afforded every possible protection. Germany has added a new chapter to her disregard of civilized customs by taking proceedings to obtain possession of personal property belonging to Former Ambassador James W. Gerard which he stored in a warehouse before leaving Berlin, notice of such proceedings having been conveyed to the United States Government by the Spanish Ambassador in Washington as the official representative of the German Embassy there. In view of Germany's methods since the war began and her evident hatred of England and America, it is interesting to learn from Ambassador Gerard that when the German Ambassador hurriedly left London, jewelry and other valuables belonging to his wife were afterward forwarded by the English Government to Berlin by courier. The observance of civilized customs and adds to the proof of her outlawry.

OUT-MANEUVERING PROFITEERS

Diversion of the entire worsted mill production of New Jersey to Government purposes was to be expected after the announcement from Washington that the Government has in contemplation the regulation of prices of wool, woolen clothing and shoes. Regulation of the price of food commodities would result naturally in a demand that the Government should take similar action regarding other necessities. The control and regulation of coal came as the result of demands from many sources for supplies which could be answered in no other way. Four of the six large mills in New Jersey which will be affected by the regulative action of the Government formerly were controlled by enemy aliens through their ownership of a majority of the stock.

German efforts to escape American import duties were responsible for the construction of these New Jersey mills, all of which were built years ago by selling agents of woolen firms in Germany. In recent hearings before Government officials, it was shown that these mills were supplied with dye-stuffs from Germany at the time the submarine Deutschland arrived at an American port bringing quantities of German materials and that for at least one firm controlling large mills the German Foreign Office at Berlin had recommended that the greatest possible consideration be shown. Through the instrumentality of some of these mills it was possible to place large orders in America for wool which went to Germany eventually. It is certainly pleasing to know that Germany's means intended to combat America economically are to be turned against her.

Increased use of wool by the Government means a less supply for ordinary commercial use, but wool will not be denied the ordinary consumer, according to a statement issued by the secretary of the War Service Committee of the Woolen and Worsted Industry, the Government not sanctioning outright cancellation of all civilian orders for cloth. The decision to clothe all overseas troops in the new heavier weights for the coming winter naturally necessitates the employment of a large percentage of the woolen cloth-making machinery, but it is intended to distribute contracts for Government cloth so that each mill shall operate part time on civilian fabrics. The summer months will be devoted, undoubtedly, to manufacturing cloth which will be made up into suits for the soldiers, which simply means deferring civilian orders for such time as is necessary to supply the soldiers.

More cotton will be required to take the place of wool in clothing, besides its great demand for war purposes, but the sensational drop in the price of cotton which has been going on for several days indicates that Government regulation in the price of clothing will be materially aided by natural trade tendencies. The United States raises about thirteen million bales of cotton annually. The Government is turning nearly a million bales a year into explosives alone. Some idea of the extent to which cotton is consumed on the battlefield may be gained from the fact that a twelve-inch gun disposes of half a bale with every shot fired, and a machine gun in operation will use a bale in three minutes. In a naval battle, like that off Jutland, more than five thousands pounds are consumed a minute by each active warship. More than a million bales are required for one change of apparel for all troops now engaged in the war, and more than twenty thousand bales to provide absorbent cotton used medically and surgically.

In view of these facts, there is very clear indication that profiteering has been attempted in cotton, and with dropping prices there has appeared a rush to sell cotton supplies whose existence was not before suspected. Price regulation of clothing will please everybody except the profiteer and with regulation of wool will insure us next winter's clothing supply.

MARTIAL LAW AGAINST TREASON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17.—The most revolutionary measure yet proposed in congress to stamp out disloyalty in the United States was brought before the senate military affairs committee for investigation today by Senator Chamberlain of Oregon.

Under the drastic provisions the entire country would be declared a part of the military zone and pro-Germanism and Bolshevikism would be dealt with under martial law with death as the penalty.

Prosecution of traitors and spies would be taken from the hands of the department of justice and placed within the jurisdiction of the military and naval forces of the nation.

The military committee summoned to the witness stand today officials of the department of justice to learn their views on the measure and to ascertain whether it will ever be possible to effectually check treason and disloyalty by criminal proceedings.

The Chamberlain bill expresses the impatience of many members of congress over the slow progress of the government in rounding up spies and disloyalists. They have reached the conclusion that this work is essentially a part of the duties of the military and that it can be effectively carried out only by the application of martial law.

Many bills have been passed by congress since the outbreak of the war to better arm the department of justice in suppressing disloyalty and espionage but even where arrests have been made the effect had nullified in many cases by the practice of admitting the culprits to bail and permitting them to continue their seditious utterances.

Senator Chamberlain announced today that he would endeavor to push the bill to an early vote. Indications were that it would meet with considerable opposition and that if passed it would be considerably amended.

CASHDOLLAR SOLD BEER, SAYS JURY

Highland Hotel Keeper Sold Real Lager Beer, Although Beer is Tabooed in Dry Town—Sentenced.

Sylvester Cashdollar of Highland was found guilty by the jury which tried him in county court Tuesday for violating the liquor tax law by selling beer in a dry town. The jury went out at four o'clock in the afternoon and brought in their verdict at eight o'clock in the evening. A motion by Cashdollar's counsel, Frank W. Brooks, to set aside the verdict and for a new trial was denied. Cashdollar's sentence was imposed at eleven o'clock this morning when Judge Jenkins sentenced him to pay a fine of $200 and in addition to be imprisoned in the Ulster county jail for thirty days.

Cashdollar in answer to the usual questions said he was a hotel keeper; born and lived at Highland; can read and write; is married; his parents are dead; habits are temperate; has not before been convicted; has had opportunities for religious instruction in the Methodist denomination.

Sentence was moved by District Attorney Traver at the opening of court. Mr. Brooks said it had been the custom in Ulster county for the court to suspend the imposition of jail sentence in cases of this kind. The appellate courts differed as to the power of the county court in this respect; the appellate division of the second department had held the county judge was without such power but the matter was now in the court of appeals in view of which facts he asked that sentence be suspended.

Judge Jenkins said he was without power to suspend sentence. Since the last term of court the United States Supreme Court had decided the matter and there was nothing for him to do but to impose sentence.

After sentence was imposed, Mr. Brooks moved for a stay of twenty days in which to apply for a certificate of reasonable doubt, the defendant's bail bond to continue in the meantime, which was granted.

The case of the People closed after the noon recess with the testimony of Deputy County Treasurer Dwight McEntee, who produced the certified copy of the result of the vote on local option question at the general election in Lloyd on November 2, 1915, as filed in his office.

Mr. Brooks objected to it on the ground that it did not contain the seal of the town as required by the code of civil procedure, and as his first witness called Supervisors' Clerk Henry R. DeWitt, who testified that the town of Lloyd had a seal.

Deputy County Treasurer McEntee was called by the defense and produced the statement of the 1913 vote on local option questions as filed in his office. Mr. McEntee had found it among the local option statements in his office when he became deputy county treasurer. It does not show the date when it was filed. On cross-examination, he testified no liquor tax certificates were issued for the town of Lloyd during 1917.

Only Sold "Pablo" and Soft Stuff.

Sylvester Cashdollar, the defendant, testified that he had lived in Highland all his life—67 years.

Asked what kinds of beverages he had for sale in his place on July 27 last, he said he had "all kinds of soft stuff and Pablo," which he described as a "near beer," having one-half of one per cent alcohol, according to the label.

Q.—"Do you remember serving these two men with any beverage in your place during July?"

A.—"We have so many strangers—I don't remember them."

Q.—"Did you sell them or any other stangers any beverage last July except Pablo, near beer or the other soft stuff you mention?"

A.—"No; that's all."

He said he had had no such conversation regarding a Mr. Baldwin as had been testified to by the two detectives, and he had not sold any lager beer in bottles to Van Zandt and Leonard or to anyone else; he had only sold soft drinks or Pablo, which comes in the same kind of bottles. During July, his son, Howard, lived with him and ran his own automobile.

On cross-examination by District Attorney Traver, Cashdollar described the premises, the description tallying with that given by the two detectives. He had five sons and three daughters living; one son died about two years ago;; he would not swear he had not told two strangers last July about the death of the latter son. (The detectives swore that during their talk with Cashdollar he had told them about his son who died two years ago.)

Since the town of Lloyd went dry, he had not had any beer in his place unless it might have been a bottle of beer he brought across the river for his own use.

"Guess They Were There."

"Do you swear that these two men were not in your place last July?" asked District Attorney Traver.

"No, I guess they were there all right," said Cashdollar, who added that "The boy took them up in the automobile," but he didn't recollect the occasion exactly.

Cashdollar did not know Baldwin, who had been mentioned.

Before the town of Lloyd went dry, he had boarders and served meals. There were 15 rooms in the hotel, and he had had regular boarders and served meals and liquors. Now he had a few boarders and served lunch. He used to sell Ruppert's beer; now he sells "Pablo."

Five Kinds of "Pablo."

He said he handled five kinds of "Pablo." They all had alcohol—a small quantity; the labels contain that statement. Some he bought in New York, some in Albany and some in Poughkeepsie. He did not know that he ever had heard of "Beevo."

"I call them all 'near beer'," he said.

He could not recall the names of the various kinds of "near beer" but called it all "Pablo," all five kinds. Besides he sold soda, ginger ale and sweet cider.

Asked whether he ever had seen either of the two detectives before, Cashdollar said he thought he had seen one of them; he did not know of any reason why they should say he had sold them beer unless he had.

Didn't Have Package, Says Son.

Howard Cashdollar, the son of Sylvester, testified he remembered taking the two men in his automobile from his father's hotel to Pat McCabe's, at which place they bought draught beer. He denied having told them to put any package in the bottom of the automobile and did not remember seeing any package. McCabe's place was four miles from his father's and the Bloomer boarding house is two miles; McCabe's is in the town of Marlborough. On the way to McCabe's place they passed Bloomer's but did not stop; they stopped at Bloomer's on the way

Cross-examined, he said the only way he knew it was in July when the men were there was that "he knew it was July."

He di not know anything about Pablo or what his father kept behind the bar. When driving to McCabe's, he sat in the front seat and the two detectives sat in the rear seat. He thought it was on a Friday he took them there.

This closed the defendant's case.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, April 17.—The Ellenville dinner and reunion of friends held at the Park Avenue Hotel, New York city, on the evening of Saturday, April 6, was considered by all attending to have been a very enjoyable affair and a great success, and much credit is due the president, Richard T. Childs, and his corps of efficient committee, Mrs. T. F. Murray, secretary; L. R. Benedict, Joseph W. Roper, John Van Ost, Harold Hendrickson, Miss Alice Frantz, Miss Cecelia Hicks, Mrs. William Eypper, Miss Katherine E. Morse and Miss Elizabeth G. Keeler. The program on its face bore a picture of the last boat as went down the old D. & H. canal. The color was cream and brown. It was an artistic arrangement for it not only contained the menu, but also the program of music and the literary part. A fine souvenir for all attending. After all had taken their places as arranged at the table, the following menu was served: Grape fruit, celery, olives, essence of fresh tomato en tasse, filet of sole joinville, roast chicken, stuffed au cresson, sugar peas, saute rissoles potatoes, romaine and orange salad, biscuit tortoni, petit fours, demi tasee. Sun Ray spring water, furnished by the Clysmie Spring Co.

It was regretted by all that owing to an engagement to speak at the big time at Middletown, N. Y., the same day, in the interest of the Third Liberty Loan, Judge Cunningham could not be present; also Congressman-elect Cleary was called to Washington, D. C., on the important Water Ways Committee meeting and as the river and harbor bill was up that day he could not leave Washington. Lieut. Deyo, son of Warden Deyo, of the New York Eastern Reformatory, was present and filled most acceptably the part assigned him on the program, "The Army." He told of many things the army needed and many things the army was doing. How it was the best equipped army in the world, and trained for offensive fighting. How the men went across from the embarkation camp at Camp Merritt with a smile on their lips and a keen anxiety to get on the firing line. The address was received with long and well-merited applause. Among the large number attending who were connected in some way with old Ellenville or vicinity were: The Misses Ella, Cecelia and Emma Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas McCullah of Hastings, John H. Connelly of Washington, D. C., and sister, Mrs. Margaret Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Benedict, John W. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson N. Moneypenny, Nelson Moneypenny, Jr., and Miss Molly Moneypenny, Miss Mary B. Schoonmaker, Mrs. A. V. Keeler with her sister, Miss Katherine E. Morse and Miss Elizabeth G. Keeler, Mrs. Thomas Dow and sons, Edward and Arthur Dow, Miss Ella Sheridan, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Cleary of Brooklyn and their guest, Mrs. Michael Lundrigan of Ellenville, James W. Riley and sister, Miss Kittie Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dannemiller, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Childs and their guest, Joseph Lord.

FUTURE USE FOR AIRPLANES

Carrying Mail and Freight and Special Marine Service Contemplated by Uncle Sam After War.

Mail and freight carrying, the location of vessels in distress at sea, the destroying of derelicts menacing navigation and the mapping of the United States are some of the duties to which Uncle Sam proposes to put airplanes after the war.

Dr. W. F. Durand, chairman of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, in a statement on the plans of the civil aerial transport committee, said the future of aviation is of vital importance, because upon it depends "the possibility of salvaging the present investment in aviation expressed in terms of human energy, skilled workmen, trained aviators, time and capital."

"Peace will find this country with an immense air capital on hand, and comprising skilled workmen, factories, machinery and industrial organization in effective operation," said Doctor Durand. "This capital must be so conserved and directed that, if possible, not a man or a dollar will be wasted in the hiatus between war and peace.

"These are some of the problems requiring early consideration. It should be understood that this work has no direct relation with the present overwhelming war emergency, except as indirectly it may show the air service to be a permanent career for the man entering it and a permanent investment for the nation supporting it."

Fruits Given by China.

The English walnut first blossomed in the interior of China, and the chestnut, so plentifully produced in the Atlantic states, made its first appearance from the lower plains of Tibet. Peaches and persimmons were first known and appreciated in Mongolia, China and Tibet, but through their common use for hundreds of years their origin has been lost and their discovery credited to lands better known.

Very Much So.

"I see the defendant is charged with light assault."

"Yes, your honor. He knocked down the complainant with a lamp."

CAPS ARE REVIVED IN PARIS

Milliners Are Making This Headgear From Every Material and for Every Type of Head.

The change in our lives has brought about some interesting new details in our dress. Because of the many activities and the difficulty of getting from place to place, states a Paris fashion correspondent, we are often very late in getting home in the afternoons, even when we have invited guests to tea. There is barely time to change out footgear and take off our hats, and none at all for hairdressing. This emergency has revived the caps of our grandmothers.

The new caps are quite different, to be sure, and much prettier, but they are undoubtedly caps. The milliners are making them of every material and for every type of head.

Some are copied from historical designs, some from the costumes of far countries, but in every case they are chosen to complete the gown with which they are worn.

Another solution of the problem of dressing for this hour is the "gandourah," or sleeveless garment which slips on over the silk or linen blouse and which has a charming suggestion of intimacy. These garments are planned to go with the cap, and they make a delightful robe d'interieur which may be adjusted in a moment.

BAGS TO MATCH THEIR HATS

Milliners Are Charging High Prices for Outfits, but Many Women Can Make Their Own.

All the clever milliners have become aware of the fact that the smart woman likes to have her knitting bag match her hat. At least the smart woman likes to possess one set of this sort. She will perhaps not make great use of the matching hat and bag, but there are times when nothing else will answer the purpose. The milliners are charging very high prices for sets of this sort, but any woman can make one for herself by making use of a paper pattern that has recently been put out by one of the paper pattern companies.

There is a transfer design for the bag, that is of simple design with strap to go over the arm, and a transfer design for the cap—of a Tam-O-Shanter model with a tassel at one side of the full crown portion. The set is effective when made up in green satin braided with the same color. Very smart also is all black.

GOOD OF PHYSICAL EXERCISE

Beauty Seeker Can Gain Advantageous Information From Experience of Woman Who Was Successful.

I weighed 150 pounds when I began getting in condition and in eight weeks I lost nine pounds, without dieting, or any of the strenuous exercises that go with the usual training, says a writer in Physical Culture.

I began by walking to the village, Mount Kisco, three miles from our farm, every day to do my marketing. The six miles did not tire me, for I was used to walking. Then I started my exercises. I practiced before a mirror, and went at them very slowly at first, getting limbered up. Every day I would kick a little higher.

The two exercises I think most important are a bending back movement, which I also started very gently, bending the whole body back with hands above the head, until I could touch the bed with the tips of my fingers. This movement absolutely removes all superfluous flesh from under the chin and takes off any flesh on the abdomen. The other exercise was a bending forward movement until the palms of my hands touched the floor.

This movement as it is usually taken is of small value because most people bend from the waist to do it. The torso should be raised, lifted high and the bend should be far below the waist from the hips. This exercise loosens the hips and the knees and makes every muscle in the back and leg flexible. The knee, the hip and the back are the three points of attack in training. The two movements I give melted away any flesh I had to lose, and made me as supple as I was when I left the stage.

I did not diet.

LEAFY SPRING HAT

With all the earmarks of spring indicating the season of the year it best suited for, this hat bounteously covered with leaves and a stem effect of ribbon, is suitable for practically every face. The shape is simple and the brim of transparent lace with the underdrop of tulle in harem veil effect makes a most unusual and dainty innovation. The underdrop is attached to the hat and goes three-quarters of the way around.

Understood His Condition.

One day as he was leaving his office in Portland, the late Thomas B. Reed was accosted by a stranger who had been imbibing so freely that he was "seeing things double." After apologizing profusely, the stranger managed to ask the congressman where he could get a car for the depot. Mr. Reed replied: "Go to the next corner; there you will see two cars; take the first one; the other won't be there."

Mackey of Highland, also charged with violating the liquor tax law, was taken up for trial. District Attorney Traver and Assistant Dent of Highland appeared for the defendant.

The charge against Mackey is selling liquor in a no-license town and the evidence was gathered against him by Detectives Van Zandt and Leonard, who were the principal witnesses against Cashdollar, during their stay in Highland last July.

A jury was secured at 12:45 o'clock and the case was tried this afternoon.

In the Twelfth Ward.

The Twelfth ward is having a lively election, with a lot of interesting features on the side. This morning at 11 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. John Stokes, 94 and 81 years old, respectively, cast their ballots for a dry Kingston. It is reported that last night after S. D. Gibson left the polling place a bottle cap and corkscrew were found lying on the table at which he had been sitting and the presumption is that Herbert Carl, who left ahead of Mr Gibson, carried away the empty bottle.

Duty and Beauty.

"Dip your fingers in strong alum water to harden them," advises the beauty expert of a Western contemporary. "Then apply vaseline over night and in the morning after washing in soap suds, polish them with talcum powder." Just to combine duty with beauty and as an item of helpful preparedness, those who follow the suggestions might use the soap suds that appear in the dish water, flouncing the suds vigorously over the dishes.—Providence Journal.

Forsook Medicine for Literature.

Henrik Ibsen, the Norwegian dramatist, at the age of twenty was a medical student at the University of Christiania. Before receiving his degree a play from his pen was produced at the National theater, with such success that Ibsen concluded he would do better in the realm of literature than in that of medicine.

SERGEANT PAIGE A PLAIN SPEAKER

Calls a Spade a Spade and Gives Plain Talk on the War in Europe That People Should Hear.

"With the appalling war news that the Germans are within 30 miles of the English Channel, that the latter is in grave danger, it is about time that every man and woman in this country, whether young or old, whether they want to or not, knows what this war may mean to us here in our so-far protected United States! It is no longer wise or safe to call that literary "spade," "an implement of agricultural labor," it must be called "A Spade." That is what Sergeant Paige will do at the high school tonight, and he will do it in no uncertain terms. He has lived through months of the hell of this war, and he will give us some idea of what we may have to face if the British Channel is reached by the Germans. Many of us have been shutting our eyes and crying out, "I won't see this horrible monster. I won't read about him!" such a way of looking at the matter will avail us little once we feel the monster's hot breath upon us, and it will be far better for all of us to find out all we can about the horrible thing, that we may be preparing in every way possible to combat it. Sergeant Paige, a mere lad with the experience behind him of a life time, will come to us tonight, and in the simplest, most forceful language will tell us what it all means and may perhaps give us some aid in the way of ideas as to that tremendously needed preparedness. This lecture will be given, absolutely free, to all Kingstonians by the Women's Branch of the Ulster County Home Defense Committee at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.

Monday Club.

The Monday Club met this week at the home of Miss K. B. Forsyth on Pearl street. Miss Forsyth had the paper for the day, and gave a most interesting and thoroughly enjoyable presentation of her subject, in itself full of interest, "The Essay of Gentle Humor: Elizabeth Woodbridge, Samuel McChord Crothers, Agnes Repplier." Sketches of the lives of the three essayists and comparisons of their writings, wherein, for instance, Elizabeth Woodbridge was shown to be the exponent of outdoor life, and Agnes R. Repplier of indoor, were supplemented by readings from the works of all three authors. As has been the custom with the club for several weeks now, ten minutes were profitably devoted to a practical discussion of food conservation, etc., much of the discussion following actual experience of the members. The program for next year, subject, "Japan," was accepted as presented by the Program Committee. The meeting next week, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenyon, and will be the last for this season, will include the election of officers, and the selection of individual subjects for papers for next year.

Druggists Here Have Something New for Colds

Applied Externally, the Body Heat Releases Ingredients in Vapor Form

COLDS GO OVER NIGHT CROUP IN 15 MINUTES

The Manufacturers Have Authorized the Local Druggists to Sell Any of the Three Sizes, 25c, 50c, or $1.00, on 30 Days' Trial.

Since its introduction here a short time ago, the new treatment for cold troubles, known as Vick's VapoRub, has aroused a great deal of interest among local people, especially among mothers with small children.

Local druggists report that numbers have taken advantage of their 30 days' trial offer to see if a 25c jar of VapoRub really will relieve these troubles externally, without having to "dose" with nauseous internal medicines.

For croup, coughs, chest colds, sore throat or bronchitis, apply VapoRub well over the throat and chest, covering with a warm flannel cloth. Leave the covering loose around the neck so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled.

In addition, VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest. For head colds, catarrh, hay fever, or asthmatic troubles, VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled.

You have to try this treatment to realize its remarkable effect in all cases of cold troubles.

WHEAT WINTERED BADLY IN STATE

Crop Refort Shows Effect of Severe Weather Conditions—Rye Outlook Also Poor—Livestock Good.

While the United States as a whole shows the condition of winter wheat improved somewhat since last December, and now only 3 per cent below the ten year average, the condition of the crop in New York state is poorer than it was last fall. It is poorer than it was at this time a year ago and much poorer than at this season in any other year since 1904. These facts are brought out in the April report of the bureau of crop estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. The report further states that on December of last year the condition of winter wheat in this state was 10 per cent below the ten year average; now it is 11 per cent below.

Much of the crop was planted later than usual and weather conditions last fall did not permit the plants to make normal growth before cold weather set in. The early melting of the snow in the wheat counties south of Lake Ontario has resulted in considerable further damage this spring and many fields look bare and brown. The late plantings have suffered most and considerable acreage will probably be replanted with spring grain.

Rye Outlook is Poor.

Last fall rye suffered from very unfavorable weather and on December 1 the condition both in this state and in the country as a whole was reported to be lower than at that season in any previous year since 1900. The winter, however, has not been as severe on rye as wheat, and the crop is not now as far below the average as it was last December. The prospects, however are not bright, the condition of the crop in the state being as low as it was at this time last year and in 1915, and substantially lower than in any other year since 1904. In the United States as a whole the prospects are poorer than in any year since 1904.

Livestock Losses Small.

During the year ending March 31, 1918, the percentage of horses, cattle, sheep and swine on the farms of this state which were lost from disease, were in every case well below the average. The general showing is perhaps no better than in 1916, but with the exception of that year, the percentage of loss is about the lowest since 1905, when the government first commenced to collect this data. The condition of livestock as a whole is a little better than usual, especially with sheep and swine.

HOW TO GATHER GREENS.

The Best Flavor for Winter Use is in the Crown.

If you don't like dandelion greens, perhaps it is because you have not gathered them or cooked them in the best possible ways, suggests Mr. H. C. O'Living, of State College of Agriculture at Ithaca in calling attention to the fact that spring greens are well worth reckoning with as a partial setback to Mr. H. C. O'Living.

Near the surface of the ground, say the dandelion enthusiasts, the root is topped by a crowd from which the leaves radiate, and the flavor of this crown they think is especially good; some declare it resembles asparagus. Even though the leaves are too old and tough for use, usually this crown is palatable. If the leaves are pulled, the crown is left behind. It stand to reason therefore, that the way to gather greens is not to pull them but to cut them carefully.

Cut Under the Crown.

If the knife is slid well into the ground so that the root is cut off an inch, or a little less, below the plant, the whole plant comes up and the greens are easier to prepare.

If the dandelions are taken out of the lawn, the crowns must necessarily be removed to make the eradication complete.

The imperfect outside leaves should be discarded at the time of gathering, for they are usually tougher and dirtier than the others.

Agrigraphs.

Every smutted grain and every diseased potato is a potent ally of the enemy. Treat all seed to prevent disease and assure production of sound crops.

When it comes to results, there is not so much difference as one would suppose between the soldier spraying liquid fire on Germans and the farmer spraying liquid fungicides on germs.

To have vegetables in cans on your pantry shelves is likely to mean that you must first have vegetables in your garden. Uncle Sam may draft all the commercially canned stuff to feed our soldiers.

No dog law is worth the paper it is printed on unless public opinion backs it to the limit. One of the causes of the lack of growth in the sheep industry of New York is the vagrant dog.

According to some milk-production cost surveys that have been made in New York it has almost seemed that some farmers have tried to see how many cows they could support. Be sure that the cows are doing the supporting.

It takes less time, labor, and seed to make a test than it does to replant. And almost any corn planted this spring without forehand knowledge of germination will have to be replanted at a time when there will be a greater scarcity of seed and less assurance that it will sprout.

WAR-TIME HINTS FOR THE LOYAL HOUSEWIFE.

Victory "Oven Luncheon."

Some mornings you have other uses for the top of the stove and would like to bake the whole lunch in the oven. Perhaps these menus suggested by the United States Food Administration will help you.

First—Potatoes au gratin with creamed cheese sauce; corn bread; fresh fruit sauce; barley sponge cake.

Second—Meat or fish pie with potato crust; barley biscuit; baked apple.

Third— Hominy baked with cheese; fruit ice; oatmeal macaroons.

Meat Pie With Potato Crust.

Two cups cooked meat; 1 cup stock; 1 tablespoon fat; ¼ tablespoon flour; ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper; 2 cups mashed potatoes.

Put diced meat into a baking dish. Add brown sauce made of fat, flour seasonings and stock. Cover top with mashed potatoes, brush with fat and brown in oven.

(Fish may be used instead of meat if desired.)

Barley Biscuits.

Two cups barley flour; ½ teaspoon salt; 4 teaspoons baking powder; 2 tablespoons fat, 2-3 cup milk.

Sift the dry ingredients together, rub in the fat, and add the liquid until a soft dough is formed. Roll to about ¾ of an inch thick, cut with a cookie cutter and bake in hot oven.

Europe's Empty Sugar Barrel.

When we were asked to "save the sugar," we nodded our heads and agreed that sugar must be saved. Somebody must save it; it was the job of the cook, the baker, or the mother of the house. It wasn't in our line.

Then came this word: "Less sweet drinks and candy containing sugar should be used in war time. As a nation we have twice as much sugar as we need."

This made it more or less a personal matter to each of us, and it put upon us a responsibility under which we squirmed a bit. How can we satisfy our perfectly normal craving for sweets, and still "save the sugar?"

We can satisfy it with candy, but not with all kinds of candy; just those which contain a minimum amount of sugar.

But is it a real sacrifice to confine your use of confectionery to the sugar saving varieties described below?

Among them are the chocolate covered nuts and fruits, the uncoated candies, such as nougatines, the delicious Turkish pastes and candies of that variety, as well as all the chocolate you want.

The second group includes "hard boiled candies" such as lemon drops, stick candy, fruit tablets, peanut bars, peanut brittle, glace nuts and the like. In this group may also be placed molasses candies such a taffies and kisses.

Marshmallows and similar candies comprise the third group. They may be eaten plain, toasted, dipped in chocolate, rolled in cocoanut and in many other palatable forms, also pop corn confections.

In the fourth group are included gum drops, jellies, jelly beans and the like, giving a wide variety of candy made from pure and wholesome ingredients and containing a minimum amount of sugar.

This isn't much of a hardship, is it? But if we keep within the limits of these candies, we have sent sugar to be put into the empty sugar barrel of Europe.

Valuable New Cement.

A Vienna metal cement or solder, supplied commercially in small cylinders, is described as a copper amalgam, amount of mercurous nitrate and water, a mixture of seven parts of mercury with three parts of powdery copper precipitated from sulphate solution by zinc. When applied, the amalgam and the metal parts to be united are heated to 150 or 190 degrees F. Aside from its use as a cement, the amalgam is stated to be an easily worked composition for various uses, as it can be hammered, rolled, shaped under a die, or softened in boiling water sufficiently for making casts, and it takes a good polish.

Origin of Market Gardener.

The term market gardener was originally "marsh gardener," according to John Evelyn's English translation, 1693 of De La Quintinyne's "Complent Gard'ner," which was dedicated by the publishers, Matthew Gillyflower and James Partridge, to Lord Capell of Tewksbury.

AMERICANS JOIN BRITISH RESERVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17.—Further speedingup of all the war activities of the United States is the chief recommendation Secretary of War Baker makes as a result of his overseas inspection trip. Men and more men is the great need today.

The British are fighting against overwhelming odds. But they have not yet encountered the complete weight of the German war machine. And it is in anticipation of that time that American forces now are being brigaded with the British reserve army in England. They already have released many men to Field Marshal Haig. And in proportion to the number of men that this country can put into England others will be released to reinfroce the army doing such wonderful work in opposing the German effort to win through to the sea.

The war secretary was expected to confer with the president at length as soon as both can spare the time. Meanwhile he has placed in the hands of the chief executive a preliminary report sketching the general result of his observations abroad. This report contains general recommendations. Specific recommendations, especially those which have to do with war plans, will be communicated to the president in person and very carefully guarded. But it is certain that the war secretary has brought back to the president a very strong appeal to get every possible soldier overseas without delay. England and France will furnish the places for the necessary training. But these men are needed and they will be sent even faster than now is being done and the present movement is more than double what was believed possible only three months ago.

Because the Germans are utilizing their entire strength against the British the situation of General Haig must continue very grave. It was pointed out again today that so far General Foch has taken no part in the present struggle with the great reserve army which was created by the supreme war council at Versailles. Officers familiar with situation point out that this army was created for a specific purpose and that apparently the time to strike has not yet been reached.

While the losses so far sustained by British are not considered vital, their seriousness is frankly admitted here. The Allied military experts point out that sustained counter-attacks very likely will have to be directed to drive the Germans from Messines Ridge. It is certain that the Germans are driving to cut Haig's railway connections and that every possible man is being used to prevent this. The latest reports received here show that the Germans are still using some 120 divisions in their effort to overwhelm the British. They are driving toward Hazebrouck with every possible man and gun.

Officials here say that it is impossible to even guess at this far range what the next move of the Entente will be. They are confident, however, that the understanding between Foch and Haig is complete and that when the proper time arrives a surprise assault will come.

BROKERAGE HOUSE FAILS.

Atwater, Foote & Sherrill of Poughkeepse Close Doors.

Atwater, Foote & Sherrill, the well-known brokerage house of Poughkeepsie with a large clientage in that city, Dutchess county and throughout the Hudson valley region, failed for a large amount of money, suspending business at 10:15 o'clock Tuesday morning. The liabilities are roughly estimated at $500,000.

The Safest Guide.

The much-praised optimist, although to be admired, is not a safe guide. He tells us all is well, when it is not. He fails to see the pitfalls and urges us forward and we fall into them. Likewise the pessimist, although shunned and berated, leads us to be over cautious. Under his influence we hopelessly sit down for fear we will fall into the pit, when there is none. The cautious leader who watches, waits, and withal is patient expecting the world to move forward, is always most trustworthy.

STANDARD SIZE FRUIT CONTAINERS

United States Standards Apply to All Interstate Shipments of Berries, Vegetables and Other Produce This Year.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—All interstate shipments of fruits and vegetables in containers must be in packages that conform to the provisions of the United States Standard Container Act, says an announcement from the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, which is charged with the enforcement of the Standard Container Act. The baskets, crates, hampers and boxes must be in sizes containing half-pints, pints, quarts or multiples of quarts, slight variations either over or under size may be allowed provided the average for any shipment conforms to the standards. Climax baskets for grapes can be made only in 2, 4 and 12 quart sizes and of the dimensions specified in the act.

The variations from standard sizes are made, it is stated, because of the nature of the containers, they being usually rough finished. No allowance for products heaped over the edge of the container is made, and the capacity of a container is determind by stricken measure tests.

Although the law applies only to interstate shipments it is probable, according to the bureau, that intrastate shipments will be generally made in United States standard containers, because may manufacturers have arranged to make no containers except those that comply with the Federal size requirements. Even shippers whose products are usually consumed in their own state are said to favor packages complying with the United States Standard Container Act, because they have no assurance that their produce will not be sent across state boundries before it is consumed.

The enforcement of the Standard Container Act will tend to eliminate deceptive practices in marketing fruits and vegetables, say the specialists, and will give a "square deal" to both the purchasing public and the trade. Over 40 food products inspectors already stationed in the large receiving markets are available for enforcing the act.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Third Ward Polls Did Not Close Until 8:45—Interesting Question Raised Thereby—One Drunk Was Not Drunk but Ill.

"Well there is one nice thing about you I like," remarked the Casual Visitor as he dropped into the city hall this morning.

"What's that?" asked the City Hall Oracle.

"You never forget what you remember," retorted he Casual Visitor.

"Seems to me you are very bright today," retorted the City Hall Oracle.

"Glad you think so," replied the Casual Visitor, "and how is the voting going in the Third ward?"

"Over 800 votes cast so far," replied the City Hall Oracle, "and they had such a rush Tuesday night they did not close the polls until a quarter to nine."

"That's going some," replied the Casual Visitor.

"You bet," replied the City Hall Oracle, "and it has raised an interesting question."

"What's that?" queried the Casual Visitor.

"According to the election law there shall be an intermission between 8 p. m. Tuesday evening and 6 a. m. Wednesday morning and all election procedure shall be suspended in each polling place and no ballots delivered or received from voters, and here they voted up until 8:45 o'clock."

"Nothing to it," replied the Casual Visitor thoughtfully.

"Why?" asked the City Hall Oracle.

"Because any voter who is in the polling place before the clock struck 8 o'clock was entitled to cast his or her ballot if it took until midnight to do it."

"I can't see it that way," said the City Hall Oracle.

"It makes no difference whether you do or not," replied the Casual Visitor, "for if you are in the polling place before the hour for closing you are entitled to vote for it is not your fault if the election board can't work fast enough to allow you to vote before 8 o'clock."

"Maybe you are right," agreed the City Hall Oracle.

"Changing the subject," said the Casual Visitor, "the town surely was dry during the election hours."

"You said something," replied the City Hall Oracle, "and the only drunk reported proved to be a man who was not drunk at all."

"How was that?" asked the Casual Visitor.

"A report reached police headquarters of a man alongside the railroad tracks dead drunk and they brought him in and it was found he had taken an overdose of formaldehyde., which he was taking in small doses for nervousness and the dose knocked him out for the time being."

Poughkeepsie Opposes Parking.

The proposed traffic ordinance recommended by the police board of Poughkeepsie relating to the parking of carsin the city streets was opposed Monday evening by the city fathers and was also objected to by business men. "Don't want city to look like Newburgh," shouted Alderman D'Arcy. The board of public works of this city is also considering a parking ordinance.

SMOKER TO BE GIVEN BY C. OF C.

Directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce have decided to give a "smoker" to the organization Thursday night, April 25, at which time a delightful treat has been arranged for the entire club membership. This special feature according to Secretary Heermans, will be made public in a few days.

Each member of the Chamber of Commerce will be supplied with two tickets which will entitle him to invite two guests for the smoker, in addition to his own attendance.

Officials of the chamber desire as many members as possible to keep the evening of the 25th open and free of any other engagement so they may attend and bring their two guests. The affair will be informal and far from tedious.

TWO DOORS FROM NORTH FRONT

Solutions and Air.

Many of the solutions used by photographers are affected by the air, and so have to be kept in well-closed bottles. Every time a bottle is opened, fresh air gets into it, and the change in its contents is facilitated. To guard against this it is usual to recommend photographers to keep such solutions in several small bottles rather than in one big one, so that when once a bottle has been opened its contents are soon used up.

AMERICAN FLYERS CAPTURE GERMANS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With the American Army in France, April 16.—(6 p. m.)—It took two American aviators just six minutes to capture two German airmen on Sunday and tomorrow the Americans will be decorated for their exploit.

The Americans who thus distinguished themselves are First Lieut. Allan S. Winslow of 2628 Hampton Court, Chicago, and Lieut. Douglas Campbell, a Harvard graduate, whose father is director of the Lick Observatory at Mount Hamilton, Calif.

The Germans were captured after two dramatic duels and today they told the correspondent of the International News Service how they did it.

Winslow, who is 22 years old and a Yale man is as handsome as a fiction hero. While at school he edited the college paper and distinguished himself as an oarsman. He is a blonde and stands six feet two inches

"Campbell and I were playing cards when the 'alert' signal sounded," he said.

"Two Boches were headed our way and we went up in pursuit. They were captives six minutes after they had crossed our lines. The most satisfactory feature was that we caught them at the aerodrome. It was the first time it had happened. My man opened fire at me from below while we were jockeying for position. As he looped I dropped, getting a better range and drove him to the ground. It was all over in a jiffy. I got out of my machine and asked the chap if he wanted a cigarette. He apparently did for he took it I thought Doug might need help so I started up, but he brought down his opponent with the German machine in flames a minute later. The actual fighting lasted about four and one-half minutes.

"Then we left the field with out prisoners. My man was of Polish birth and was 24 years old. He said he had been a pilot for two years. In perfect French he exclaimed:

"'The war is over for me It all happened so quickly I was a bit confused I had no time to think.'

"The French people were enthusiastic over the affair. A French woman who kept a little store insisted on treating the Americans. She did it, too but mistook the German prisoner in the crowd and handed him a bottle of champagne which she had intended for one of the victims. The German lost no time in downing it. Doug and I thought it a good joke and laughed heartily."

Campbell's story follows:

"The German machines were up about 2,000 yards when we closed in. I began to pump bullets from my machine gun as soon as we got in range. We fluttered around some and finally I winged one His machine was crippled and it fell in flames. The German cleverly volplaned, however, averting a worse injury than what he received. He was burned some, but managed to unhook the strap that held him in his seat.

"Both enemy machines were of the Albatross type. My prisoner was 20 years old and was burned so much that he had to go to the hospital. His machine man was pretty much burned, too. It was thrilling afterwards to think of the danger It took us about a day to realize that we had gone through the affair without a scratch."

Receiver is Appointed.

In the matter of the action of Anthony Gentile against Joe Licardo to have personal property of a partnership sold County Judge Jenkins Monday granted the motion made by Brinnier, Canfield and Brinnier, attorneys for Licardo, for the appointment of a receiver, and the judge appointed Judge John Van Etten receiver N H Fessenden appeared for Gentile.

LANESVILLE MAN'S LETTER FROM FRANCE

The following letter from Private Julian B Ostrander, 11th Engineer (Railway) A. E. F., France, has been received by his mother, Mrs. Daniel Ostrander of Lanesville:

Somewhere in France.
March 16.

Dearest Mother and Father—

Sunday evening and I will again write you a few lines, to say that I am still well and feeling fine.

Today has been a grand day over here Real summer weather.

We have had two ball games, one this morning and one this afternoon. We also have boxing gloves, so we have had some sport. To night we are to have church in one of the barracks. Some Y. M. C. A. man is going to be with us. It has been a long time since I attended church so I think I will go.

I have been thinking of you parents dear and wondering where you have spent this lovely day. But I suppose at home. We are glad to see such lovely weather and hope it continues. The fields are nice and green here and the trees have quite good sized leaves on them. The time seems to go quickly, it does not seem that we have been here nine months already; wish at times that I could be at home for a few hours and then back here again. Have never ben sorry that I came and am willing to do my little bit; am anxious to see this thing finished as I suppose most people are.

I have never felt better in my life than I do now. Get plenty to eat, a good place to sleep and enough shoes and clothing. What more can I ask for? Gee my mouth watered the other day tho' when I happened to see an old lady with a mess of dandelion greens. You know how I always liked them.

Now mother dear take good care of yourself and father, and please do not worry about me. It's church time now so will ring off and finish later

Well, mother, I attended church as I said I would and will now finish my letter We heard a fine sermon, the text was "Wine, Women and Curse," could have listened to him all night. They sang some old songs. First, "When the Lost Sheep Return the Fold." Second, "Nearer My God to Thee," and last but by no means least, "America."

Well mother, its time for lights out so I must close. When you write to the girls give them my love and tell them to write often.

When one is so far away there is nothing like news from home. Remember me to all the boys, and with all my love to you and father, I remain as ever your only son.

JULIAN B. OSTRANDER.

SEED CORN WANTED IN WESTERN NEW YORK

A short time ago the Ulster County Farm Bureau published for the corn growers of Ulster county a plan for selling the corn that Ulster county is able to spare to the western New York state farmers

It has been found advisable to increase the price to the grower from $3 75 a bushel to $4.25 (shelled), the cost of sacks included The method of handling this corn is as follows:

The County Better Seed Company have appointed Everett & Treadwell of Kingston sales agents to handle the corn. They will pay $4.25 per bushel for all corn delivered to them that has a germination test of 80 per cent or over. The Farm Bureau Association is undertaking to test samples of corn from any grower that desires to sell seed corn through this agency.

In order to secure a representative sample to be tested, about fifty ears should be selected from different parts of the crib; four or five kernels should be taken from each of these ears and this sample sent to the Farm Bureau office, Kingston, N. Y.

Save Every Ear That Is Fit for Seed.

Growers that have corn suitable for seed, should save every kernel of it. It seems almost criminal to feed corn that is good for seed purposes when such a serious seed corn shortage new exists all through the northern states. Never in the history of agriculture has the seed corn situation been known to be as serious as it is at the present time. This fact is becoming more apparent every day as crib after crib of supposedly good corn is being tested and found unfit for seed.

Germination Tests Made at the Farm Bureau Office.

Upwards of seventy samples of corn have been tested at the Farm Bureau office and many more are being tested at the present time. Only twenty-two out of these seventy samples have tested above 80 per cent. But poor as the corn is in Ulster county, it is considered very good when compared to the corn grown in the western counties of this state. Practically the only source of seed corn for husking purposes in New York state is located in the Hudson river section.

Ulster County Farmers Without Seed Should Secure Same at Once.

It is not the intention of the Farm Bureau to remove a single ear of corn from the county that is needed here for seed, but it is the duty of the Farm Bureau to send every ear that is not needed in this county.

A list of growers that have seed corn of good germination will be listed in the April issue of the Farm Bureau paper.

A Farm Bureau officer must always stand ready to answer all inquiries relative to best local sources of tested seed corn.

Bread is the staff of life, but you can make a good crutch of potatoes.

CASHDOLLAR SOLD BEER, SAYS JURY

Highland Hotel Keeper Sold Real Lager Beer, Although Beer is Tabooed in Dry Town—Sentenced.

Sylvester Cashdollar of Highland was found guilty by the jury which tried him in county court Tuesday for violating the liquor tax law by selling beer in a dry town. The jury went out at four o'clock in the afternoon and brought in their verdict at eight o'clock in the evening. A motion by Cashdollar's counsel, Frank W. Brooks, to set aside the verdict and for a new trial was denied. Cashdollar's sentence was imposed at eleven o'clock this morning when Judge Jenkins sentenced him to pay a fine of $200 and in addition to be imprisoned in the Ulster county jail for thirty days.

Cashdollar in answer to the usual questions said he was a hotel keeper; born and lived at Highland; can read and write; is married; his parents are dead; habits are temperate; has not before been convicted; has had opportunities for religious instruction in the Methodist denomination.

Sentence was moved by District Attorney Traver at the opening of court. Mr. Brooks said it had been the custom in Ulster county for the court to suspend the imposition of jail sentence in cases of this kind. The appellate courts differed as to the power of the county court in this respect; the appellate division of the second department had held the county judge was without such power but the matter was now in the court of appeals in view of which facts he asked that sentence be suspended.

Judge Jenkins said he was without power to suspend sentence. Since the last term of court the United States Supreme Court had decided the matter and there was nothing for him to do but to impose sentence.

After sentence was imposed, Mr. Brooks moved for a stay of twenty days in which to apply for a certificate of reasonable doubt, the defendant's bail bond to continue in the meantime, which was granted.

The case of the People closed after the noon recess with the testimony of Deputy County Treasurer Dwight McEntee, who produced the certified copy of the result of the vote on local option question at the general election in Lloyd on November 2, 1915, as filed in his office.

Mr. Brooks objected to it on the ground that it did not contain the seal of the town as required by the code of civil procedure, and as his first witness called Supervisors' Clerk Henry R. DeWitt, who testified that the town of Lloyd had a seal.

Deputy County Treasurer McEntee was called by the defense and produced the statement of the 1913 vote on local option questions as filed in his office. Mr. McEntee had found it among the local option statements in his office when he became deputy county treasurer. It does not show the date when it was filed. On cross-examination he testified no liquor tax certificates were issued for the town of Lloyd during 1917.

Only Sold "Pablo" and Soft Stuff.

Sylvester Cashdollar, the defendant, testified that he had lived in Highland all his life—67 years.

Asked what kinds of beverages he had for sale in his place on July 27 last, he said he had "all kinds of soft stuff and Pablo," which he described as a "near beer," having one-half of one per cent alcohol, according to the label.

Q.—"Do you remember serving these two men with any beverage in your place during July?"

A.—"We have so many strangers—I don't remember them."

Q.—"Did you sell them or any other stangers any beverage last July except Pablo, near beer or the other soft stuff you mention?"

A.—"No; that's all."

He said he had had no such conversation regarding a Mr. Baldwin as had been testified to by the two detectives, and he had not sold any lager beer in bottles to Van Zandt and Leonard or to anyone else; he had only sold soft drinks or Pablo, which comes in the same kind of bottles. During July, his son, Howard, lived with him and ran his own automobile.

On cross-examination by District Attorney Traver, Cashdollar described the premises, the description tallying with that given by the two detectives. He had five sons and three daughters living; one son died about two years ago; he would not swear he had not told two strangers last July about the death of the latter son. (The detectives swore that during their talk with Cashdollar he had told them about his son who died two years ago.)

Since the town of Lloyd went dry, he had not had any beer in his place unless it might have been a bottle of beer he brought across the river for his own use.

"Guess They Were There."

"Do you swear that these two men were not in your place last July?" asked District Attorney Traver.

"No, I guess they were there all right," said Cashdollar, who added that "The boy took them up in the automobile," but he didn't recollect the occasion exactly.

Cashdollar did not know Baldwin, who had been mentioned.

Before the town of Lloyd went dry, he had boarders and served meals. There were 15 rooms in the hotel, and he had had regular boarders and served meals and liquors. Now he had a few boarders and served lunch. He used to sell Ruppert's beer; now he sells "Pablo."

Five Kinds of "Pablo."

He said he handled five kinds of "Pablo." They all had alcohol—a small quantity; the labels contain that statement. Some he bought in New York, some in Albany and some in Poughkeepsie. He did not know that he ever had heard of "Beero."

"I call them all 'near beer'," he said.

He could not recall the names of the various kinds of "near beer" but called it all "Pablo," all five kinds.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, April 17.—The Ellenville dinner and reunion of friends held at the Park Avenue Hotel, New York city, on the evening of Saturday, April 6, was considered by all attending to have been a very enjoyable affair and a great success, and much credit is due the president, Richard T. Childs, and his corps of efficient committee, Mrs. T. F. Murray, secretary; L. R. Benedict, Joseph W. Roper, John Van Ost, Harold Hendrickson, Miss Alice Frantz, Miss Cecelia Hicks, Mrs. William Eypper, Miss Katherine E. Morse and Miss Elizabeth G. Keeler. The program on its face bore a picture of the last boat as went down the old D. & H. canal. The color was cream and brown. It was an artistic arrangement for it not only contained the menu, but also the program of music and the literary part. A fine souvenir for all attending. After all had taken their places as arranged at the table, the following menu was served: Grape fruit, celery, olives, essence of fresh tomato en tasse, filet of sole joinville, roast chicken, stuffed au cresson, sugar peas, saute riscoles potatoes, romaine and orange salad, biscuit tortoni, petit fours, demi tasse. It was regretted by all that owing to an engagement to speak at the big time at Middletown, N. Y., the same day, in the interest of the Third Liberty Loan, Judge Cunningham could not be present; also Congressman-elect Cleary was called to Washington, D. C., on the important Water Ways Committee meeting and as the river and harbor bill was up that day he could not leave Washington. Lieut. Deyo, son of Warden Deyo, of the New York Eastern Reformatory, was present and filled most acceptably the part assigned him on the program, "The Army." He told of many things the army needed and many things the army was doing. How it was the best equipped army in the world, and trained for offensive fighting. How the men went across from the embarkation camp at Camp Merritt with a smile on their lips and a keen anxiety to get on the firing line. The address was received with long and well-merited applause. Among the large number attending who were connected in some way with old Ellenville or vicinity were: The Misses Ella, Cecelia and Emma Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas McCullah of Hastings, John H. Connelly of Washington, D. C., and sister, Mrs. Margaret Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Benedict, John W. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson N. FUTURE USE FOR AIRPLANES

Carrying Mail and Freight and Special Marine Service Contemplated by Uncle Sam After War.

Mail and freight carrying, the location of vessels in distress at sea, the destroying of derelicts menacing navigation and the mapping of the United States are some of the duties to which Uncle Sam proposes to put airplanes after the war.

Dr. W. F. Durand, chairman of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, in a statement on the plans of the civil aerial transport committee, said the future of aviation is of vital importance, because upon it depends "the possibility of salvaging the present investment in aviation expressed in terms of human energy, skilled workmen, trained aviators, time and espiral."

"Peace will find this country with an immense air capital on hand, and comprising skilled workmen, factories, machinery and industrial organization in effective operation," said Doctor Durand. "This capital must be so conserved and directed that, if possible, not a man or a dollar will be wasted in the hiatus between war and peace.

"These are some of the problems requiring early consideration. It should be understood that this work has no direct relation with the present overwhelming war emergency, except as indirectly it may show the air service to be a permanent career for the man entering it and a permanent investment for the nation supporting it."

Fruits Given by China.

The English walnut first blossomed in the interior of China, and the chestnut, so plentifully produced in the Atlantic states, made its first appearance from the lower plains of Tibet. Peaches and persimmons were first known and appreciated in Mongolia, China and Tibet, but through their common use for hundreds of years their origin has been lost and their discovery credited to lands better known.

Very Much So.

"I see the defendant is charged with light assault."

"Yes, your honor. He knocked down the complainant with a lamp."

Besides he sold soda, ginger ale and sweet cider.

Asked whether he ever had seen either of the two detectives before, Cashdollar said he thought he had seen one of them; he did not know of any reason why they should say he had sold them beer unless he had.

Didn't Have Package, Says Son.

Howard Cashdollar, the son of Sylvester, testified he remembered taking the two men in his automobile from his father's hotel to Pat McCabe's, at which place they bought draught beer. He denied having told them to put any package in the bottom of the automobile and did not remember seeing any package. McCabe's place was four miles from his father's and the Bloomer boarding house is two miles; McCabe's is in the town of Marlborough. On the way to McCabe's place they passed Bloomer's but did not stop; they stopped at Bloomer's on the way.

Cross-examined, he said the only way he knew it was in July when the men were there was that "he knew it was July."

He di not know anything about Pablo or what his father kept behind the bar. When driving to McCabe's, he sat in the front seat and the two detectives sat in the rear seat. He thought it was on a Friday he took them there.

This closed the defendant's case.

GOOD OF PHYSICAL EXERCISE

Beauty Seeker Can Gain Advantageous Information From Experience of Woman Who Was Successful.

I weighed 190 pounds when I began getting in condition and in eight weeks I lost nine pounds, without dieting, or any of the strenuous exercises that go with the usual training, says a writer in Physical Culture.

I began by walking to the village, Mount Kisco, three miles from our farm, every day to do my marketing. The six miles did not tire me, for I was used to walking. Then I started my exercises. I practiced before a mirror, and went at them very slowly at first, getting limbered up. Every day I would kick a little higher.

The two exercises I think most important are a bending back movement, which I also started very gently, bending the whole body back with hands above the head, until I could touch the bed with the tips of my fingers. This movement absolutely removes all superfluous flesh from under the chin and takes off any flesh on the abdomen. The other exercise was a bending forward movement until the palms of my hands touched the floor.

This movement as it is usually taken is of small value because most people bend from the waist to do it. The torso should be raised, lifted high and the bend should be far below the waist from the hips. This exercise loosens the hips and the knees and makes every muscle in the back and leg flexible. The knee, the hip and the back are the three points of attack in training. The two movements I give melted away any flesh I had to lose, and made me as supple as I was when I left the stage.

I did not diet.

CAPS ARE REVIVED IN PARIS

Milliners Are Making This Headgear From Every Material and for Every Type of Head.

The change in our lives has brought about some interesting new details in our dress. Because of the many activities and the difficulty of getting from place to place, states a Paris fashion correspondent, we are often very late in getting home in the afternoons, even when we have invited guests to tea. There is barely time to change out footgear and take off our hats, and none at all for hairdressing. This emergency has revived the caps of our grandmothers.

The new caps are quite different, to be sure, and much prettier, but they are undoubtedly caps. The milliners are making them of every material and for every type of head.

Some are copied from historical designs, some from the costumes of far countries, but in every case they are chosen to complete the gown with which they are worn.

Another solution of the problem of dressing for this hour is the "gaudourah," or sleeveless garment which slips on over the silk or linen blouse and which has a charming suggestion of intimacy. These garments are planned to go with the cap, and they make a delightful robe d'interieur which may be adjusted in a moment.

BAGS TO MATCH THEIR HATS

Milliners Are Charging High Prices for Outfits, but Many Women Can Make Their Own.

All the clever milliners have become aware of the fact that the smart woman likes to have her knitting bag match her hat. At least the smart woman likes to possess one set of this sort. She will perhaps not make great use of the matching hat and bag, but there are times when nothing else will answer the purpose. The milliners are charging very high prices for sets of this sort, but any woman can make one for herself by making use of a paper pattern that has recently been put out by one of the paper pattern companies.

There is a transfer design for the bag, that is of simple design with a strap to go over the arm, and a transfer design for the cap—of a Tam-O'-Shanter model with a tassel at one side of the full crown portion. The set is effective when made up in green satin braided with the same color. Very smart also is all black.

LEAFY SPRING HAT

With all the earmarks of spring indicating the season of the year it is best suited for, this hat bounteously covered with leaves and a stem effect of ribbon, is suitable for practically every face. The shape is simple and the brim of transparent lace with the underdrop of tulle in harem veil effect makes a most unusual and dainty innovation. The underdrop is attached to the hat and goes three-quarters of the way around.

Understood His Condition.

One day as he was leaving his office in Portland, the late Thomas B. Reed was accosted by a stranger who had been imbibing so freely that he was "seeing things double." After apologizing profusely, the stranger managed to ask the congressman where he could get a car for the depot. Mr. Reed replied: "Go to the next corner; there you will see two cars; take the first one; the other won't be there."

SECOND EXCISE CASE ON TRIAL

No-License Town of Lloyd Furnishes Another Case for Violation of Excise Law in Sale of Beer—Hasbrouck Case in June.

In county court this morning after Sylvester Cashdollar of Highland had been sentenced for violating the liquor tax law, the case of the People against Wesley A. Mackey of Highland, also charged with violating the liquor tax law, was taken up for trial. District Attorney Traver and Assistant Dent of Highland appeared for the defendant.

The charge against Mackey is selling liquor in a no-license town and the evidence was gathered against him by Detectives Van Zandt and Leonard, who were the principal witnesses against Cashdollar, during their stay in Highland last July.

A jury was secured at 12:45 o'clock and the case was tried this afternoon.

In the Twelfth Ward.

The Twelfth ward is having a lively election, with a lot of interesting features on the side. This morning at 11 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. John Stokes, 94 and 81 years old, respectively, cast their ballots for a dry Kingston. It is reported that last night after S. D. Gibson left the polling place a bottle cap and corkscrew were found lying on the table at which he had been sitting and the presumption is that Herbert Carl, who left ahead of Mr Gibson, carried away the empty bottle.

Duty and Beauty.

"Dip your fingers in strong alum water to harden them," advises the beauty expert of a Western contemporary. "Then apply vaseline over night and in the morning after washing in soap suds, polish them with talcum powder." Just to combine duty with beauty and as an item of helpful preparedness, those who follow the suggestions might use the soap suds that appear in the dish water, flouncing the suds vigorously over the dishes.—Providence Journal.

Forsook Medicine for Literature.

Henrik Ibsen, the Norwegian dramatist, at the age of twenty was a medical student at the University of Christiania. Before receiving his degree a play from his pen was produced at the National theater, with such success that Ibsen concluded he would do better in the realm of literature than in that of medicine.

AMERICANS JOIN BRITISH RESERVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 17.—Further speedingup of all the war activities of the United States is the chief recommendation Secretary of War Baker makes as a result of his overseas inspection trip. Men and more men is the great need today.

The British are fighting against overwhelming odds. But they have not yet encountered the complete weight of the German war machine. And it is in anticipation of that time that American forces now are being brigaded with the British reserve army in England. They already have released many men to Field Marshal Haig. And in proportion to the number of men that this country can put into England others will be released to reinfroce the army doing such wonderful work in opposing the German effort to win through to the sea.

The war secretary was expected to confer with the president at length as soon as both can spare the time. Meanwhile he has placed in the hands of the chief executive a preliminary report sketching the general result of his observations abroad. This report contains general recommendations. Specific recommendations, especially those which have to do with war plans, will be communicated to the president in person and very carefully guarded. But it is certain that the war secretary has brought back to the president a very strong appeal to get every possible soldier overseas without delay. England and France will furnish the places for the necessary training. But these men are needed and they will be sent even faster than now is being done and the present movement is more than double what was believed possible only three months ago.

Because the Germans are utilizing their entire strength against the British the situation of General Haig must continue very grave. It was pointed out again today that so far General Foch has taken no part in the present struggle with the great reserve army which was created by the supreme war council at Versailles. Officers familiar with situation point out that this army was created for a specific purpose and that apparently the time to strike has not yet been reached.

While the losses so far sustained by British are not considered vital, their seriousness is frankly admitted here. The Allied military experts point out that sustained counter-attacks very likely will have to be directed to drive the Germans from Messines Ridge. It is certain that the Germans are driving to cut Haig's railway connections and that every possible man is being used to prevent this. The latest reports received here show that the Germans are still using some 120 divisions in their effort to overwhelm the British. They are driving toward Hazebrouck with every possible man and gun.

Officials here say that it is impossible to even guess at this far range what the next move of the Entente will be. They are confident, however, that the understanding between Foch and Haig is complete and that when the proper time arrives a surprise assault will come.

BROKERAGE HOUSE FAILS.

Atwater, Foote & Sherrill of Poughkeepse Close Doors.

Atwater, Foote & Sherrill, the well-known brokerage house of Poughkeepsie with a large clientage in that city, Dutchess county and throughout the Hudson valley region, failed for a large amount of money, suspending business at 10:15 o'clock Tuesday morning. The liabilities are roughly estimated at $500,000.

The Safest Guide.

The much-praised optimist, although to be admired, is not a safe guide. He tells us all is well, when it is not. He fails to see the pitfalls and urges us forward and we fall into them. Likewise the pessimist, although shunned and berated, leads us to be over cautious. Under his influence we hopelessly sit down for fear we will fall into the pit, when there is none. The cautious leader who watches, waits, and withal is patient expecting the world to move forward, is always most trustworthy.

STANDARD SIZE FRUIT CONTAINERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., April 17.—All interstate shipments of fruits and vegetables in containers must be in packages that conform to the provisions of the United States Standard Container Act, says an announcement from the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, which is charged with the enforcement of the Standard Container Act. The baskets, crates, hampers and boxes must be in sizes containing half-pints, pints, quarts or multiples of quarts, slight variations either over or under size may be allowed provided the average for any shipment conforms to the standards. Climax baskets for grapes can be made only in 2, 4 and 12 quart sizes and of the dimensions specified in the act.

The variations from standard sizes are made, it is stated, because of the nature of the containers, they being usually rough finished. No allowance for products heaped over the edge of the container is made, and the capacity of a container is determind by stricken measure tests.

Although the law applies only to interstate shipments it is probable, according to the bureau, that intrastate shipments will be generally made in United States standard containers, because may manufacturers have arranged to make no containers except those that comply with the Federal size requirements. Even shippers whose products are usually consumed in their own state are said to favor packages complying with the United States Standard Container Act, because they have no assurance that their produce will not be sent across state boundries before it is consumed.

The enforcement of the Standard Container Act will tend to eliminate deceptive practices in marketing fruits and vegetables, say the specialists, and will give a "square deal" to both the purchasing public and the trade. Over 40 food products inspectors already stationed in the large receiving markets are available for enforcing the act.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Third Ward Polls Did Not Close Until 8:45—Interesting Question Raised Thereby—One Drunk Was Not Drunk but Ill.

"Well there is one nice thing about you I like," remarked the Casual Visitor as he dropped into the city hall this morning.

"What's that?" asked the City Hall Oracle.

"You never forget what you remember," retorted he Casual Visitor.

"Seems to me you are very bright today," retorted the City Hall Oracle.

"Glad you think so," replied the Casual Visitor, "and how is the voting going in the Third ward?"

"Over 800 votes cast so far," replied the City Hall Oracle, "and they had such a rush Tuesday night they did not close the polls until a quarter to nine."

"That's going some," replied the Casual Visitor.

"You bet," replied the City Hall Oracle, "and it has raised an interesting question."

"What's that?" queried the Casual Visitor.

"According to the election law there shall be an intermission between 8 p. m. Tuesday evening and 6 a. m. Wednesday morning and all election procedure shall be suspended in each polling place and no ballots delivered or received from voters, and here they voted up until 8:45 o'clock."

"Nothing to it," replied the Casual Visitor thoughtfully.

"Why?" asked the City Hall Oracle.

"Because any voter who is in the polling place before the clock struck 8 o'clock was entitled to cast his or her ballot if it took until midnight to do it."

"I can't see it that way," said the City Hall Oracle.

"It makes no difference whether you do or not," replied the Casual Visitor, "for if you are in the polling place before the hour for closing you are entitled to vote for it is not your fault if the election board can't work fast enough to allow you to vote before 8 o'clock."

"Maybe you are right," agreed the City Hall Oracle.

"Changing the subject," said the Casual Visitor, "the town surely was dry during the election hours."

"You said something," replied the City Hall Oracle, "and the only drunk reported proved to be a man who was not drunk at all."

"How was that?" asked the Casual Visitor.

"A report reached police headquarters of a man alongside the railroad tracks dead drunk and they brought him in and it was found he had taken an overdose of formaldehyde, which he was taking in small doses for nervousness and the dose knocked him out for the time being."

Poughkeepsie Opposes Parking.

The proposed traffic ordinance recommended by the police board of Poughkeepsie relating to the parking of cars in the city streets was opposed Monday evening by the city fathers and was also objected to by business men. "Don't want city to look like Newburgh," shouted Alderman D'Arcy. The board of public works of this city is also considering a parking ordinance.

SMOKER TO BE GIVEN BY C. OF C.

Directors of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce have decided to give a "smoker" to the organization Thursday night, April 25, at which time a delightful treat has been arranged for the entire club membership. This special feature according to Secretary Heermans, will be made public in a few days.

Each member of the Chamber of Commerce will be supplied with two tickets which will entitle him to invite two guests for the smoker, in addition to his own attendance.

Officials of the chamber desire as many members as possible to keep the evening of the 25th open and free of any other engagement so they may attend and bring their two guests. The affair will be informal and far from tedious.
